Horse Race Bill
Are Gambling
Bills;
Exit of Civil War

ONCE more the bill to "legalize horse racing" (which is already legal) is up in Missouri, and presumably in other states. And of course, as usual, there is nothing about horse racing in it.

It would be a useful reduction to the number of laws on the books. The bill could exempt, not only "legalize" but promote horse racing, with a commission, and even an appropriation, to help it.

Gambling is the only thing they are trying to promote. Their bill should be so entitled.

IT SEEMS only a little while ago when the first young man who had not served in the Civil War began to come to Congress.

They were invaders of the rule that all offices, elective and appointive, must go to the veterans, and were the harbingers of a new generation.

Now the last of the veterans, General Isaac Sherman, says his valet, and the Civil War appears from the public life of the nation.

It is the end of an age, which began in heroism, exaltation and graft, descended into sordidness, intolerance and barrenness of soul, expanded into great material progress and culminated morally and politically, in the Roosevelt era.

Then came let-down, partial recovery, the exaltation of the great war and the spiritual collapse that followed—and the last of the veterans survived only to see the first and most discouraging stages of the long cycle through which his own generation had also gone.

Perhaps, having lived through it, he is equipped to look with more charity than the rest of us on its cyclic repetition.

THE pending split in the British Labor party further illustrates the need of keeping alive the almost extinct Liberal party.

MacDonald and his associates are being driven by their own radicals into a practical position scarcely distinguishable from liberalism. Their philosophic difference becomes academic.

It is much the same in America. Reckless radicalism has driven the progressives largely into union with, but not into agreement with, the conservatives.

They do not belong permanently there, and it is not best for the country that they stay there indefinitely.

We still need, if not a Liberal party, a liberal movement in one or both of the existing parties.

It is the radicals who have, for the moment, prevented this. In their present quarrels is perhaps the best hope of its revival.

Walter Camp, Sport Authority, Dead

EXPIRES IN NEW YORK HOTEL ROOM LAST NIGHT

Heart Attack Is Blamed For Passing of Noted Gridiron Expert

PRINCETON COACH DISCOVERS BODY Gained Fame For Selection of Annual "All American" Football Eleven

NEW YORK, March 14.—Walter Camp, noted athlete, coach and author of the widely used "daily dozen" exercises for keeping well, was found dead in bed in his room at the hotel Belmont here today.

Camp was in New York attending the annual meeting of football coaches.

Coach Roper of Princeton found the body.

"I grew worried when Mr. Camp failed to keep an appointment this noon and I went to his room," Roper told the United Press. "He apparently had been dead since last night."

Death no doubt came from a heart attack.

The Camp family at New Haven, Conn., was notified at once. Camp was in his 66th year. He was born in New Haven April 7, 1859.

He was graduated from Yale and for years was active in the management of athletics at that university. His business interests were largely centered in the New Haven Clock company, of which he was at one time president, treasurer and general manager.

Camp's literary activities gave him lasting fame in the annals of sport. To be named on Camp's mythical "all American" eleven was the highest honor a gridiron star could attain. Camp was a contributor to many magazines and was editor of a column in Collier's in which the "all-American" list was published annually.

Camp's widow is a sister of Professor W. G. Sumner of Yale. Camp probably was the oldest and best known amateur athlete of his time. He played in the Yale eleven of 1880 and 1881 and was captain of the team his last year.

Say Quadra Was Only One of Big Liquor Squadron

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Additional evidence that the British rum ship Quadra was but one of a fleet of whiskey carriers operating out of Canadian ports, and that her seizure was legal, will be offered by government attorneys Tuesday when trial of her owners and operators is held in federal court here.

Defense attorneys have not yet opposed efforts to prove the Quadra was a rum ship but have centered their fight on the claim that she was outside the territorial waters of the United States when the coast guard cutter Shawnee seized her.

Kills Wife Then Turns Gun on Self

OAKLAND, March 14.—Madison Whitehurst fired two shots into his wife's body then turned the gun on himself last night, when she refused to forget past domestic difficulties and live with him again. Both are in a critical condition.

"Flu" Malady In Chicago Under Control

CHICAGO, March 14.—The mysterious respiratory malady which has been sweeping Chicago with such deadly effect appears to be under control, Dr. Herman Bunsen, health commissioner, declared today in reporting a reduced death rate for the 24 hours ending at 10 p. m. last night.

Influenza and pneumonia deaths, traceable to the malady, totaled 21 for the 24 hour period, he said. This makes a total of 300 deaths since March 1. Approximately 100 new cases of the malady, which affects the respiratory organs and brings on influenza and pneumonia, have been reported during the same period.

6 KILLED, 25 WOUNDED WHEN GERMANS RIOT

BERLIN, March 14.—First bloodshed in the campaign to select a successor to the late President Ebert has occurred.

Report today from Halle said six were killed and 25 severely wounded in election riots there when police attempted to break up a meeting of communists.

A police telephone message to the United Press at noon said the tumult started when police forbade translation of a speech of an English communist. Crowds in the stadium shouted insults at the police and shots were fired. Police answered the fire, the message said, adding:

"Our reports indicate five communists are dead, including one woman, six severely wounded and 18 suffering from minor injuries."

The controversy started with an argument over whether all candidates be granted use of the government radio monopoly for campaign speeches. About 8,000 were in the hall when the meeting started and police were on the alert for an outbreak, remembering that Halle was a center for propaganda during the uprising of 1921.

HEROES OF ARCTIC DASH IN SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Wash., March 14.—Four of the men who recently sailed in the trail fight to carry diphtheria anti-toxin to Nome, Alaska, arrived here late last night. They are Willard J. Shannon, Solomon Basco, Ralph Lomen and Captain John Hegness.

Shannon and Basco figured as dog team drivers over stretches of the trail. Lomen is a well known member of an Alaskan trading concern. Captain Hegness brought out the first films and pictures taken in Nome while the epidemic was raging. Gunnar Kasson, who went through the final stages of the relay to Nome, will arrive here next week.

Shannon is the man who drove the first relay from Nenana to Tolovana.

Captain Hegness, with the films, mushers and sleds, arrived at Seattle, arriving at Nenana February 28. From there he made his way to Seattle via Seward.

Woman's Body Is Found In S. F. Bay

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—When Mrs. Angeline Barranco, young divorcee, told her husband, "I'm going where I need a change from you, not even our baby," she meant what she said.

Her body was found floating in San Francisco bay late yesterday.

'SONNY' WILLIS TO GO ON TRIAL

MOVIE ACTRESS NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH AS ARTERY IS SEVERED BY DOOR KNOB

HOLLYWOOD, March 14.—Evelyn Brent, screen actress, nearly bled to death in her home here today when she slashed an artery of her wrist on a broken door-knob. She was saved from death by her maid, Helen Brown, who stopped the bleeding temporarily with a handkerchief and pencil until a physician arrived.

The accident occurred when a glass door-knob gave way as the screen star was entering her bathroom, and broke in her hand. The wrist was so severely cut that several stitches were later necessary.

B. P. Finman, Miss Brent's husband, was called from a studio lot to his home by the maid who phoned him his wife was "bleeding to death."

A looped handkerchief and a stout pencil in an improvised tourniquet stopped the bleeding temporarily and ten minutes later Dr. Wolsan had taken three stitches in the wound.

Bledsoe Quits Federal Bench; Lauds Coolidge

LOS ANGELES, March 14.—Federal Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe, of the Southern California district, submitted his resignation to President Coolidge today to become a candidate for mayor of Los Angeles. The resignation will become effective March 25.

Judge Bledsoe, who is a Democrat, paid high tribute to President Coolidge in his letter of resignation.

"Your fine, manly courage, your rugged and unyielding conception of duty, and your praiseworthy efforts to increase the efficiency and diminish the extravagance of government have all met with my hearty approval," he said. Judge Bledsoe was appointed to the federal bench in 1914 by President Wilson.

WILL QUIZ GREECE ON SLAV PROTOCOL

GENEVA, March 14.—In his first political appearance since the League conference, Eleutherios Venizelos, former prime minister of Greece, today addressed the council of the League of Nations in defense of the minority protocol with Bulgaria for protection of Slav minorities in Greece.

Despite the Venizelos explanation of the situation, the council decided to address a sharp note to Greece, demanding to know what steps she intends to take for protecting the Slav minorities.

The council expects late today to send a note to Germany stating the assembly, meeting in September, will have to consider Germany's application for admission to the League as the matter is of too great importance to be handled by the council. The note, while friendly in nature, will describe Germany's request for exemption under Article XVI of the covenant as "inconsistent with the league's fundamental basis of membership equality."

Wood Not To Resign Place For Penn. Job

SACRAMENTO, March 14.—Declaring he will "not quit my office with snipers in the rear," Superintendent of Public Instruction Will C. Wood announced today he had definitely decided to remain in California and will not accept the position offered him by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

A telegram stating his decision not to consider further the Pennsylvania position was dispatched to Governor Pinchot by Wood last night.

Wood denied that his decision was brought about solely because of the Duval bills before the legislature which would abolish the position he now holds.

YOUNG BOY ACCUSED OF L.A. MURDER

LOS ANGELES, March 14.—Harold "Sonny" Willis, 15, will stand trial for the murder of Dr. Benjamin Baldwin, juvenile Judge Harry R. Archbald today denied a motion of state's attorneys to dismiss the case, and the boy will be given a preliminary hearing on March 25.

When the case is called Deputy District Attorney E. J. Dennison will again argue for dismissal, he said, on the ground there was insufficient evidence to convict.

"Sonny" recently made a startling "confession" that he and not his mother, Mrs. Margaret Willis, killed Dr. Baldwin last April.

Mother Was Convicted.

Mrs. Willis was convicted of the murder, and was sentenced to life imprisonment. She has been subpoenaed to testify against her son, although she declared in her cell in county jail today that she will serve "ten life sentences" before she would help send her boy to a reform school.

Mrs. Willis was to have left for San Quentin penitentiary today. Her stay in county jail has been automatically extended until after the boy's hearing.

"I will never testify against Sonny if I spend ten years in prison," she said. "I will not say a word that will tend to throw the burden on Sonny."

Attorney Samuel Hahn, who defended Mrs. Willis, preferred the murder complaint against the son a week ago.

He will be the boy's attorney also, and attempt to prove that "Sonny" killed Dr. Baldwin to save his mother from attack.

The last trial, Mrs. Willis claimed she shot the physician, but pleaded it was in self-defense.

Hold Couple In Investigation Of Orphan Death

CHICAGO, March 14.—A warrant charging William D. Shepherd with the murder of William McChintock, "millionaire orphan," his ward, who died last November, will be drawn if Shepherd is released on a writ of habeas corpus, representatives of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe told Judge Hopkins of the criminal court today.

"We have important evidence, but we do not want to make out a warrant until the case is presented to the grand jury," Crowe's men told Judge Hopkins.

"You might as well put this over for thirty days, then," Attorney Edwin Herrick, representing Shepherd, cried. "This is a case of perjury. They are trying to break down Mr. Shepherd's mind and body."

Judge Hopkins said he would make a ruling at 2 p. m. when Crowe will be in court personally to handle the case.

Woman, Rejected As Alien, Jumps from Steamer

SEATTLE, Wash., March 14.—A woman traveling under the name of Grace Gale committed suicide on board the Admiral Oriental liner President McKinley last night, according to a wireless message to local offices of the line.

NOMINATION IS PRESSED AS LEADERS URGE DELAY

Early Decision to Defer Action Until Monday Is Opposed By Walsh

REPORT QUESTIONS PRESIDENT'S RIGHT

Pepper Defends Warren, Criticizes Opponents; Threaten Filibuster

WASHINGTON, March 14.—President Coolidge will give Charles Becher Warren a recess appointment as attorney general if his nomination is not confirmed by the senate, it was learned this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14.—The senate overrode the wishes of its leaders today and decided to press the nomination of Charles Becher Warren as attorney general to a vote before the end of the day's session. Shortly before leaders had agreed to postpone consideration until Monday.

"I couldn't see any reason why we shouldn't vote today," Walsh said. "I will be ready to vote after I submit this report from the judiciary committee."

The report questioned the constitutional right of President Coolidge to submit again to the senate a nomination which already has been once rejected by it.

Pepper began presentation of the Warren defense. He criticized senators who previously had said in debate that "Warren enjoyed no reputation whatever as a lawyer."

"Any one who has investigated Warren's record would not make such a statement," Pepper said. "He is a man of unusual native ability of peculiarly well adapted education and that kind of a lawyer who not only knows the law but who can try his cases effectively."

Pepper called attention to Warren's connection with the settlement of the Behring sea fisheries treaty.

Threatens Filibuster

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Montana, Democrat, chief of Warren's opponents, threatened to filibuster against adjournment if the Warren matter were not disposed of today.

Walsh made a checkup after the postponement agreement was entered into which caused him to fear the majority against confirmation might be lost over the weekend. He believed the senate was lined up to defeat Warren on the basis of votes present today and he was unwilling to jeopardize his commanding position.

Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, revealed the new plan when he moved that the senate proceed to consider the Warren nomination in open executive session.

With discussion the eyes and noses were demanded.

The Republicans were in quandary as to how to stop an immediate vote when Senator Pepper, Pennsylvania's Republican, got the floor. He said he wished to say a few words before a vote was taken.

Pepper read a telegram from Walter S. Foster, president of the Michigan Bar association, saying that Warren was respected by the bar of Michigan and thought fit in every way for the office of attorney general. Another telegram from George W. Cole, former president of the American Bar association, also commended Warren. The Walsh report which was adopted (Continued on Page Two.)

STAGE BANDIT GETS 20-YEAR PRISON TERM

W. E. Neuteboom, 21, college man, ex-convict and erstwhile leader of the bandit quartet that robbed J. R. Mayer, Santa Ana banker, and was then captured while holding up a stage in the city of Anaheim, was today given a sentence of 20 years at San Quentin.

He pleaded guilty before Superior Judge R. Y. Williams to a charge of attempting to commit robbery of the stage driver, Paul Burke. The penalty in cases of an attempt to commit crime is fixed by the judge instead of the prison board and is half of the maximum provided in cases where the crime is actually committed.

In court today Neuteboom, who is a native of Ogden, Utah, and the son of an Ogden printer, admitted that he had served 18 months in a Utah prison for forgery, after his freshman year at college. He had never committed a hold-up before, he said, and was drunk when he halted the stage. The youth is said to have told fellow prisoners in the county jail, however, that he had staged many robberies.

His three companions, including Virginia Hymmer, 22, the "flapper" bandit are now awaiting trial for the Mayer robbery, which charge will not now be pressed against Neuteboom, it is said.

NOMINATION OF WARREN PRESSED

by the nine members of the senate judiciary committee opposed to his confirmation, said in part:

"Whether the president has the right or authority under the constitution to submit to the senate a nomination for public office therefore at the same session, rejected by it, is open to the gravest doubt.

"No president has ever ventured to do so, so far as your committee in the limited time at its command has been able to ascertain, save President Tyler, who, on the same day three times submitted to the senate the name of Caleb Cushing for secretary of the treasury, the nomination being as often rejected by the following vote:

"First, yeas, 19; nays, 27.
"Second, yeas, 10; nays, 27.
"Third, yeas, 2; nays, 29.

"Even though the constitutional authority existed and the rules did not forbid, it would be in the least degree unseemly in the absence of any showing from any other quarter in the senate at the more recent request of the president of the United States to reverse its action in such a matter.

"The power of his great office is said to be in excess of that enjoyed by any constitutional monarch. The wisest and most patriotic among the founders of our government and the framers of our constitution harbored anxieties about entrusting him with the power to appoint all federal officers and to dread the influence it would permit him to exercise over the action of either or both houses of congress.

"The distribution of what has come to be called patronage was reluctantly placed in his hands because no safer or more practicable method could be devised.

"The peril of permitting him again and again to endeavor to impose on the people a nomination unacceptable to the senate, particularly in a case in which, in the present instance, the vote taken on the nomination is close, need not be enlarged upon.

"It is the opinion of the committee that the nomination should be promptly rejected."

Additional telegrams read by Pepper were from circuit court Judge Clyde Webster of Detroit, W. F. Connelly, Michigan, member of the Democratic National committee and from the Union League club of Detroit, a party organization of the Republicans.

In event Warren is again rejected, President Coolidge is considering nominating John G. Sargent, Ludlow, Vermont, former attorney general of Vermont, as attorney general, according to reports received at the senate during debate on the Warren nomination.

Spend $1,940 to Conserve Water

Orange county has expended $1,940 on water conservation operations at Barton Flats, in the San Bernardino mountains, during the last six months, it was shown today in the supervising engineer's statement of tri-county expenditures for the half-year period ending March 1. The report was filed with the county clerk here.

San Bernardino county expenditures totaled $2,003 while those of Riverside were $1,576 it was shown. The three counties are interested in "spreading" operations at Barton Flats and make annual appropriations for the work.

Raid House Near Laguna, Nab Still

Swooping down on a small house, several miles south of Laguna Beach late yesterday, several deputy sheriffs found and confiscated a small copper still and a small amount of alleged whiskey. The owner of the still was not found.

Several copper coils and other equipment for the making of illicit liquor was also found and seized as evidence.

Given Freedom from Man With Numerous Wives

Mattie Lyon, who was one of the numerous wives of Miner C. Lyon today secured from Superior Judge R. Y. Williams an annulment of her marriage. She was wed in Santa Ana last April and left her husband in Sacramento when she discovered his matrimonial past.

One of her predecessors, Miss Elizabeth Jones, Los Angeles school principal, whose marriage to Miner and its annulment all occurred during 1921, testified for the plaintiff. She told Judge Williams that she was "No. 7 or No. 8." Proof of one other marriage, not annulled or dissolved by divorce, was offered. It was Lyon's marriage to "Pinkie" Edwards, at Columbus, Ohio in 1920.

URGE CENTRAL LOCATION FOR FAIR GROUNDS

Resolutions asking that the Orange county board of supervisors abandon plans for establishing a recreational site and county fair grounds on Newport road, and substitute a centrally-located site between Anaheim and Santa Ana, were unanimously adopted at a meeting of representatives of chambers of commerce from Orange county towns, held in Anaheim, Friday afternoon.

These resolutions will be presented to the board of supervisors at the next meeting of that body. They were adopted, it is pointed out, at the request of residents of virtually every part of the county, who felt that a central site should be selected.

Present at the meeting in Anaheim were representatives of the chambers of commerce of Santa Ana, Fullerton, Brea, Garden Grove, Placentia, Tustin, Huntington Beach, Orange, Newport Beach and Anaheim.

AROUND THE COURTHOUSE

Brief News of Courts and County Officers

Fix Brooks' Sentence
G. E. Brooks, former Anaheim and Brea printer, and Mrs. Addie B. Wiley, 19, his employee and co-defendant in a statutory charge of which they were convicted last August, must serve three years each at San Quentin, according to word received here today from the prison board.

The sentence of R. G. Boone, convicted of a statutory offense last February, was fixed at 10 years, it was announced.

Mrs. Crawford Gets Decree
Mrs. Daisy Crawford, whose divorce complaint against M. H. Crawford, local real estate agent, declared that her husband slapped her whenever she discovered one of his marital misdeeds, today held a decree of divorce, following hearing of her case late yesterday in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court.

An assault and battery charge she had brought against her husband was dismissed today by Justice K. E. Morrison, at the request of Mrs. Crawford.

Mate Divorces Forger
Mrs. Eva Hill, of Santa Ana, was granted a decree of divorce late yesterday from Elmer Hill, on the ground that he has been convicted of a felony. Hill was found guilty of forgery. Superior Judge Williams granted the divorce.

Company Increases Stock
The Southern Service company, which operates laundries in Santa Ana and other Orange county cities, has increased its capital stock from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 according to a certificate of increase filed today with the county clerk.

Is Unable to Appear
Reported to be lying in a state of coma, as the result of a spinal affliction aggravated by his recent trial, Alexander Wilson, of Westminster, was unable to appear in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court today for sentence on a charge of selling liquor.

His attorney, Otto Sanaker, reported the man's condition, and stated that his client would be unable to appear in court, judging from previous similar attacks, for two or three months.

The court suspended pronouncement of sentence to May 15.

Seeks Name Change
Permission to change his name to Orange County Bond and Mortgage corporation was asked yesterday by the Orange County Home Builders Finance corporation, of this city, in a petition filed with the superior court.

The present name of the concern, besides being unwieldy, does not truly express the scope of the company's business, the petition stated. It was filed through Attorney Z. B. West Jr.

Pleads Guilty to Check Charge
Fred Weistreich, of Bellflower, yesterday pleaded guilty to writing a worthless check at Huntington Beach, and applied for probation. Superior Judge Z. B. West set the hearing on his application for March 20 at 9:30 a. m. Attorney George K. Scovel was appointed by the court today to represent the defendant.

Set Trial of Klansman
Lyle Barnes, Anaheim klansman, who was charged with assault and battery after he was alleged to have, without warning, struck Lotus H. Loudon, publisher of an Anaheim newspaper, while Loudon was standing on a street corner, will have a jury trial in Justice K. E. Morrison's court here April 7. It was arranged today. Barnes entered a plea of not guilty.

IMPERIAL VALLEY FARMERS HALT WATER RIGHTS FIGHT IN COLORADO DAM PROJECT

SACRAMENTO, March 14.—The fight of farmers of the Imperial Valley to obtain provisions in the ratification of the Colorado River six state compact, which will insure them their present water rights, today was at a standstill pending action by the assembly committee on federal relations which has been deliberating over the Jones-Murphy-Finney resolution.

This resolution specifies that the ratification shall not become effective until after congress has given assurance that water storage facilities will be provided on the river and that it protects the present rights of the farmers to the water.

The committee finished its hearings on the bill late last night after proponent and opponents of the measure had delivered their cases. The hearing lasted more than seven hours. Date for final action on the bill was to be set today.

Despite assurances from Attorney General U. S. Webb to the contrary, the irrigators expressed belief that to ratify the treaty would be to sign away their vested rights in the water of the river. The chief argument for demanding the reservation was based upon that one assumption.

Opposes Finney Plan.
State Engineer W. M. McCulloch, opposing the Finney resolution, read a telegram from Secretary Herbert Hoover which stated that "if a ratification of the resolution is to be successful it must be adopted." Hoover also gave assurances that the compact would not endanger the water rights.

Senator A. Burlingame Johnson of Pasadena, author of a senate resolution calling for ratification of the compact, led the opposition measure, while Senator Ralph Swing aided the authors of the Finney resolution.

The attorney general told committee members he believed that the inclusion of a provision of any sort included in the resolution adopted by Colorado and Wyoming would result in ultimate defeat of the entire treaty.

Await State Compact.
He also declared he believed congress would take no action toward construction of a dam until at least the six states compact had been completed.

Charles L. Childers, El Centro attorney, argued in favor of ratification. He was advised by W. M. Matthews, counsel for the Los Angeles Bureau of Public Service; former Senator Frank Carr; Thomas C. Yaeger, representing the Coachella county water district of Riverside county; Earl C. Pound, president of the Imperial irrigation district; Ralph Criswell, Los Angeles city councilman; and Mark Rose, director of the water district.

Possibility that the committee might pass out a resolution introduced by Assemblyman Sidney Graves of Los Angeles and Frank Weller, Glendale, calling for ratification of the treaty without supplemental provisions accompanying it, was another resolution suggesting the reservations, was introduced by Chairman Tom Loutit today.

HEATHMAN RITES ARE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Colonel William F. Heathman, for fifty years resident of California, and who for 25 years has been active in city affairs, holding the position of city attorney and city recorder, were held from the Winbigler Mission funeral home at 2 p. m. today.

The services were of a simple nature and were private. The Rev. William Roberts, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated at the services and burial was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Seeks $12,000 As Insurance In Accident Death

Mrs. Alisa Trickey, of this city who declares that the Traveler's Insurance company has refused payment of a $12,000 claim in connection with the death of her brother, Chester Rose, today had filed suit in the superior court asking judgment against the insurance company for that amount. Attorney W. V. Menton represents her.

Rose carried a $6000 accident policy, bearing the provision that in case of violent or accidental death while traveling upon a public carrier, the policy should pay a double amount. Mrs. Trickey was named beneficiary.

Rose was injured while boarding a bus at Long Beach in April, 1922, and died of his injuries in August of that year, the complaint states. A claim for $12,000 was made to the company and was refused, it is alleged.

Oliger Speaks at W. R. C. Meet

A delightful program of talks, readings, and musical numbers was enjoyed by members of the Women's Relief corps at a meeting in the G. A. R. hall yesterday. Announcement was made that the next meeting of the organization will be March 29 at 8 o'clock.

A. L. Oliger, secretary of the chamber of commerce, was one of the speakers yesterday, telling of the value of co-operation in the up-building of a community. Mrs. Harry Hayes rendered a vocal solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ida Seton. Mrs. Mary Clem and Mrs. Armine Crawford and Mrs. Eva Ball gave readings. Community singing was enjoyed.

WAR VETERAN. S. A. MINISTER GETS SUMMONS

Never fully recovering from injuries sustained almost four months ago, when he was struck by an automobile at the intersection of Washington and Main streets, the Rev. Jacob Samuel Follas Wood, 86, civil war veteran and a Baptist minister for 65 years, died at his home at 1512 Bush street, at 10:30 a. m. today.

He had been confined to his bed for the past week and his death was not unexpected.

A native of Virginia, the Rev. Wood moved when a boy to Missouri where he spent the early part of his life, and was ordained when he was 21. He had been active in the pulpit in both Missouri and Wyoming for more than 65 years. During the Civil war he was with the Fourth Missouri cavalry seeing active service in a number of prominent battles.

Rev. Wood came to California 15 years ago and settled in Santa Ana. He has preached a number of sermons here and was well known throughout the city, where he leaves a host of friends to mourn his death.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sarah K. G. Wood, of Santa Ana and one son, H. J. Wood, of Redondo Beach, who was here at the time of his father's death.

Funeral services will be held from the Smith and Tuthill funeral parlors at 2 p. m. Monday the Sedwick Post, G. A. R., having charge of the services. The Rev. Otto Russell, pastor of the First Baptist church will have charge of the ceremony and burial will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

SHORT, UGLY WORD FLUNG AT SENATOR

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Senator Ernst, Kentucky, Republican, rose in the senate today and asked the chair's permission to call Senator Glass, Virginia, Democrat, a "wicked, wilful and malicious liar."

The senate was in a turmoil when Senator Moses, New Hampshire Republican, moved to vote Ernst "out of order." The motion was adopted 48 to 32 after a roll call.

Vice President Dawes was not in the chair during the new battle. Before the vote Ernst took the floor and declared that he had not meant his remarks to be applied to Senator Glass.

LETTERS AND FILES GAINED REMOVED

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Letters and files of the treasury department mysteriously disappeared just at the time when they were wanted by the senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau, Senator Couzens, chairman of the committee, charged in a speech in the senate today.

Couzens said someone kept the treasury department in constant touch with every supposed secret of the investigators.

Refuse Papers To Bring Back Fullerton Youth

FULLERTON, March 14.—Requisition papers for extradition of Ardyne Hill, Fullerton youth, who is alleged to have cashed $450 in forged checks among local merchants and at the Standard Bank of Orange county, and then fled to Kansas, were denied by Governor Richardson, according to information received here.

S. W. Smith, president of the bank, filed the complaint against the boy and District Attorney Nelson sent the petition with his recommendation to the governor, who refused the papers on the ground, it is said, that the case looked to him like a "family affair."

Young Hill had signed his father's name to the checks, it is claimed.

BRING IN TWO NEW WELLS IN H. B. OIL FIELD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 14.—A deep well in the northwestern part of the oil field here, which came in at 1550 barrels of 28 gravity oil yesterday, jumped the production of the local oil field to 45,000 barrels a day.

Another gusher was struck in a shallow zone on the east side and is now flowing 1400 barrels of 27 gravity oil.

Both wells are operated by large companies which have spent several months in the drilling process. Careful drilling is responsible for both of the wells coming in, it is claimed by local oil men.

The well in the northwestern section was spudded in at 4690 feet. It is owned by the Standard Oil company and is known as Bolsa No. 19. The well is the closest well to the Pacific ocean to be opened during the last several months. Operators for the Standard declare that the discovery of oil will open up an entirely new section for them. They are understood to have a lease on nearly all property in the vicinity. The land is owned by the Bolsa Chicla Gun club.

The east side well is situated west of Delaware avenue, and is known as the General Petroleum company well, Dabney No. 2 oil was struck at 3725 feet. The well is adjacent to the Columbia Development company well, which is now drilling.

Oil men here are emphasizing feasibility of careful drilling. They point to the oil sands now being uncovered at various depths which, during the rush for gushers, were entirely overlooked.

The Standard well in the northwestern section today was looked upon as one of the best wells in the field. The well came in at about 1300 barrels and steadily rose in production. The highest gravity oil in the field is claimed to be flowing from this well.

Gets 60 Days In Jail, Friday, 13th

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 14.—Ova Nelson, 36, wanted to escape his usual hard luck on Friday, the 13th. Thursday night he proceeded to drown his troubles with "moonshine," it is alleged. But the officers spotted him. He awoke in the city jail Friday, the 13th. About 13 hours after he was arrested, he was taken before City Recorder Harry Stewart. He pleaded guilty to drunkenness.

"Sixty days," said the judge, adding that perhaps a little hard work on the side wouldn't hurt much.

J. D. Daniels, 19, arrested on Ocean avenue, while traveling at an approximate speed of 45 miles an hour, was fined $10. He was the first speeder to be arrested by Motor Officer Elmer Parker.

Farm Bureau Notes

Formation of a poultry club for boys and girls is contemplated by the West Orange Farm center, and a committee to look into the matter will be named shortly. The need for such a club was explained to the center members last night by W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor.

Cory showed a two reel motion picture showing the work various agricultural clubs throughout the state are doing.
A. A. Brock, county horticultural commissioner, talked on the work of his department. Refreshments of sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee were served.

Bills Discussed
Talks on legislative matters featured the meeting of the La Habra farm center Thursday night. Speakers were J. A. Baker, superintendent of schools of La Habra; Ross Hobson and A. E. Block, Costa Mesa poultryman.
An interesting travelogue was given by the Rev. George Hayson. Committees for the year were appointed.

Experts Meet
Horticultural commissioners and farm advisors of the southland met in Riverside Friday for an inspection of the citrus experimental station here. The work of the station was explained by Professors Harry Smith, H. J. Quail and J. T. Barrett.
A. A. Brock, county horticultural commissioner and H. E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor, attended from here.

News Briefs

The California Nu-Way Feather Renovators will open for business Monday morning at 2321 North Main. This is a new concern for Santa Ana. John C. Brubaker, a thoroughly experienced feather man, is the proprietor. The plant has special machinery which handles automatically feather sterilization and renovation. Brubaker is a former resident of San Jose and Oakland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tompkins, 711 South Sycamore street, have returned to their home here after spending several weeks in Northern California. They visited friends in Santa Cruz and at San Jose. Much rain in the northern part of the state has made crops appear in the best of condition, they reported.

All who ever lived in Missouri are invited to meet for the annual picnic reunion, all day March 22, in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles. There will be county registers. A brief program will open about 2 o'clock, but the main purpose will be to have a good time. The president, James A. Lang, will preside.

E. A. Wood, president of the Orange County Home Builders' corporation today declared that announcement that his company had moved into its new quarters at Sixth and Main streets, was premature. Mr. Wood said the offices would not be ready for another two or three weeks. He further declared that report that M. Norins was president was incorrect. The officers are Mr. Wood, president; Albert Rohrs, vice-president; Fred O'Brien, vice-president; John O. Reed, treasurer; Peter Palm, secretary; and M. Norins, manager of the security department.

Randall's Radio Shoppe on North Sycamore street was the scene of local radio enthusiasts yesterday afternoon and evening when Uncle Remus (E. M. Bonnell), Los Angeles Boy Blue (Little David) and other two highly entertaining programs from 4 to 5:30 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. Both programs attracted crowds which taxed the capacity of the Randall store, and attested the popularity of these two clever stars of KLL.

Arrangements for the usual Sunday evening services at the Church of the Messiah were cancelled today on account of a telegram notifying the rector, the Rev. W. L. H. Benton, of the serious illness of a close friend living in San Diego. The Rev. Mr. Benton will conduct the morning services as usual tomorrow but will leave as early as possible for the southern city to be with his friend.

Included in the guest list at St. D. Keller, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Houlette, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Green, Los Angeles.

COUNTY UNION COLLEGE PLAN IS ABANDONED

Prospects for establishing a county union junior college took a sudden slump today when it became known that there is no hope of obtaining legislation that would facilitate the project.

According to those identified with the enterprise, the Fullerton junior college district has failed to convince any enthusiasm for the proposition, a state of feeling which it was indicated, is shared in a degree by Assemblyman S. C. Hartman of Fullerton.

It was also announced today that there will be no further consideration of the project, and that all reports, statistics, etc., prepared by different committees in anticipation of carrying the undertaking to a successful issue, will be filed away for future reference.

Police News

Bearing out the belief that registration slips are forged and placed in stolen cars, a case concerning a Santa Ana man came to the attention of the police here today. Information was given to the effect that a car, believed to have been stolen, and registered to S. J. Heffner, 715 Lacy street, had been recovered at Jerome, Idaho. Heffner said today he never had such a car and that his car, bearing the registration slip was in his garage.

Several persons, driving west on Myrtle street and thought to have been responsible for the firing of a shot through the front window of the home of J. J. Baker, 812 West Myrtle street, last night at 9 o'clock. The bullet pierced the pane and curtains.

A reward of $25 has been offered for the apprehension of thieves who entered the City Junk and Wrecking company on West Fifth street and stole a large quantity of aluminum plates, brass moldings and copper wire. The burglary was effected some time last night and entrance was gained through the skylight, it was reported.

PROTECTION OF CREDITORS AIM OF STATE BILL

Members of the Orange County Credit Association are one hundred per cent behind Assembly Bill No. 1178, introduced by Assemblyman Edgar C. Levey of San Francisco, which, if enacted into law, will amply protect the rights and interests of creditors in divorce suits, according to David H. Betten, manager and secretary of the organization.

He added that letters will be sent to State Senator Kline and to Assemblyman Hartman, representing the district, advising them of the stand of the credit association, and urging them to support the bill.

This law, if passed, Betten points out, would prevent great loss, inconvenience and trouble in collecting accounts where there are family troubles, disputes, and an attempt of one or both parties to "sting" the other in case of applying for and securing divorce.

It requires husband or wife, in an action for divorce, to give notice of the action to all creditors who have furnished them with necessities of life, articles of personal adornment and household furnishings.

It enables the merchant an opportunity to present his claim for the purchase price of such articles and requires the husband and wife either to approve and acknowledge the validity of the claim or deny its validity under oath.

It enables the creditor to bring suit for the purchase price where the claim is rejected or not acted upon within three days.

It prohibits the court from granting a decree of divorce until the parties show under oath that notice to creditors has been given and until the creditors have had time to present their claims.

It requires all agreements settling property rights to be presented to court for approval if there are on file three claims aggregating $300.

Protect Creditors
It prohibits the court from approving property settlements and from granting divorce until the claims of all creditors have been provided for in a satisfactory manner.

It authorizes the court to deduct from the wife's allowance the amount of a claim for wearing apparel or articles of personal adornment purchased by the wife during separation, or within thirty days prior to the commencement of an action for divorce, provided that it appears that the purchases were made in contemplation of divorce or for the purpose of creating a liability against the husband.

LEGION DRAMA TO BE STAGED FOR VETERANS

With the same enthusiasm displayed on the first night, the American Legion players, again staged "Within the Law" to a capacity house at the Walker theater last night.

Possibly even more smooth than on the first night of the show, the drama was carried out, scene after scene, in true professional fashion, to such an extent that only praise was heard from the some 1000 persons that comprised the audience.

Each actor played his or her part in such a manner on both evenings that the American Legion shows of the future will always stand high in Santa Ana amateur theatricals, and the ex-service men's organization has made a name for itself that is to be envied.

Last night's receipts were even greater than on the first night of the show, it was announced, while the American Legion auxiliary cleared more than $55 from the sale of home-made candy during the performance. On the first night more than $45 worth of candy was sold, giving the auxiliary approximately $115 for their Camp Kearney relief fund.

Leaving here at 8 a. m. tomorrow, the actors, together with Griff Barnett, director will go to Camp Kearney, where "Within the Law" will be staged tomorrow afternoon for the benefit of wounded and sick veterans in the hospital there. The troupe will meet at the Legion hall on Birch street and will go in automobiles.

Many of the boys at Camp Kearney are looking forward with pleasure to the performance, as their entertainment is limited at all times, while members of the company expect to do even better for their "buddies" than they have done for Santa Ana audiences.

Following the closing of the show last evening, the entire troupe, with their husbands and wives, were entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson, 2320 Oakmont avenue, where they talked about the show, danced and were entertained by different members of the cast. A light luncheon was served at midnight. Approximately 30 persons were present in the social gathering. Solos were sung by Mrs. Gertrude Whitney, Lyle Anderson and Paul Cassidy.

SAYS BAKER IS NOT IN PRISON

Mrs. M. H. Morrison, of this city, a relative of Walter Baker, former resident of this city, today called at the Register office to deny the correctness of news item concerning Baker printed in The Register of February 20.

Based on the statement of a local man, the item said that Baker was serving time in San Quentin for murdering his sixth wife.

According to Mrs. Morrison, Baker is residing at Atwater, this state, and never has been in San Quentin. She says, furthermore, that Mr. Baker has not been married six times.

Do you realize that there are over 100,000 pillows, feather beds and mattresses in Orange county unfit to sleep on! Is yours one of them?

Stop and consider that your pillows and beds have been next to your body 5 to 40 years. The warmth of the body opens every pore of the skin and the radiation reaches to the center of every pillow or mattress. You sleep on the pillow and mattress night after night, year after year. They cannot be washed, but can be steamed, renovated and sterilized, can be made as safe, sweet and clean as your linens from the laundry, at a very nominal cost, with the old tick laundered or a new one as you would suggest, and in strict compliance with the law of sterilization.

You shudder at the thought of wearing your underclothing more than a day or two without washing, and yet you allow yourself to sleep on a pillow or mattress that has accumulated the dirt and germs for years.

SAY ESTIMATES WILL INCLUDE SCHOOL PRESS

Provision for enlarging the vocational training department of the Santa Ana high school is made in the annual estimates now being prepared by Principal D. K. Hammond, which will be submitted to the school board next Monday. It was learned today in local educational circles.

The estimates, it is understood, will call for the initial installation of a modern printing plant, where students can take a complete course in commercial as well as newspaper printing. While the plant is being developed from year to year, by adding new equipment, it is proposed to have students taking up journalism familiarize themselves with the mechanical requirements of a modern newspaper.

As a starter, Principal Hammond will ask for $5200, which will be used for the purchase of a press and minor equipment. As soon as funds become available it is intended to install linotype machines and other machinery necessary to complete the equipment.

The project has the endorsement of City Superintendent Cranston, who is anxious to have the vocational courses so arranged that they will be of a practical value to the student when he graduates and enable him to make a living for himself.

OUR LORD'S RESURRECTION

TEXT: John 20:1-16
The first day of the week cometh Mary Magdalene early, when it was yet dark, unto the sepulchre, and seeth the stone taken away from the sepulchre.

Then she runneth, and cometh to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple, whom Jesus loved, and saith unto them, They have taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre, and we know not where they have laid him. Peter therefore went forth, and that other disciple, and came to the sepulchre.

So they ran both together; and the other disciple did outrun Peter, and came first to the sepulchre. And he stooping down, and looking in, saw the linen clothes lying; yet went he not in. Then cometh Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and seeth the linen clothes lie. And the napkin, that was about his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself. Then went he also to the sepulchre, and he saw, and believed.

For as yet they knew not the Scripture, that he must rise again from the dead. Then the disciples went away again unto their own home. But Mary stood without at the sepulchre weeping; and as she wept, she stooped down, and looked into the sepulchre, and at the feet where the body of Jesus had lain. And she said unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She saith unto them, Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him.

And when she had thus said, she turned herself back, and saw Jesus standing, and knew not that it was Jesus. Jesus saith unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She, supposing him to be the gardener, saith unto him, Sir, if thou have borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

Jesus saith unto her, Mary. She turned herself, and saith unto him, Rabboni; which is to say, Master.

CHRISTIANITY is the religion of a living Christ. Its progress as an experience in the souls of men, and its historical development as a world religion, have had their foundation in the conviction that Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified, is not dead, but living.

His mystic presence in the souls of men is what has kept the faith alive, and has given to the Gospel its continued power in redemption. How did this conviction that Jesus is not dead arise? Our lesson is the answer. The Gospel story records the tradition of an opened and empty tomb, and the fact that the discouraged and helpless disciples saw their Lord, found new hope in His presence, and received His commission and the word of inspiration that sent them forth to world conquest for the kingdom of righteousness and truth.

Founded on Faith
Christianity was built upon their faith in the Resurrection. We do not know how Jesus returned.

We cannot explain the miracle—otherwise it would be no miracle. But the disciples in some way became convinced that they had seen Jesus—that He had returned to them, and His spiritual presence through this new vision of Him became a permanent reality and a new triumphant motive of faith and life.

The "physical Resurrection" is too deep and too critical a nature for discussion here. It is difficult to see how the disciples could have had their despair changed into hope, and their spiritual vision and passion suddenly revived, without the experiences that our lesson describes.

They saw some visible, outward and very real manifestation of Jesus of Nazareth after His death, and through them the spiritual reality of His presence has been imparted to us.

Is not that the sufficient basis for discussion here?

The questions involved are of a very real nature, and have colored the record of a very real experience.

Is not that the sufficient basis for discussion here?

of faith in the Resurrection? In their situation of gloom and despondency the disciples needed some visible proof of Christ's continued presence and leadership.

Faith Was Restored
They had their faith in Christ restored because of the Resurrection. Because of this new proof and evidence they believed anew in Him.

But for us, of necessity, things are reversed. We must believe in the Resurrection because of Christ.

The historic fact lies beyond our personal observation. But Christ does not lie outside the range of personal experience.

Paul claimed to have seen Him, "as one born out of due season." Christ himself is the deep foundation of the Christian religion. It is not the miracle of a man rising from the dead that challenges and vitalizes our faith; it is the man who rose—the one who is pure and altogether lovely.

That such a man should abolish death and rise triumphant is not hard to believe. The cause of the Resurrection is greater than the fact, and Jesus himself is the cause.

He triumphed over death because "in Him was life, and the life was the light of men."

The Resurrection experience and full faith in its reality never come to their true place in our lives until we can say with Paul, "Christ liveth in me."

HELPED THROUGH CHANGE OF LIFE

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during this Critical Time

Baltimore, Md.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to help me through the change of life and for a broken-down system. I had been complaining a long time and dragging along had tried other medicines which did not help me much. I read in the newspapers of the Vegetable Compound and after taking a bottle I felt better. I did not stop with one bottle, but took it through the whole critical time and am now practically a well woman. I have two daughters whose health was very bad before they married and I was worried about them. I got the Vegetable Compound for them and it helped them, and after they married it also helped them in bearing their babies. This is a great and good medicine for all complaints of women, and I recommend it to all."—Mrs. L. GINGRICH, 1876 N. Gilmer St., Baltimore, Maryland.

The Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for women of middle age. Let it relieve you of nervousness, that feeling of strain and those annoying hot flashes so common at this time.

Charming Appointments
Mark Luncheon For Missouri Friends

Choosing St. Ann's Inn as the setting for a charmingly spring luncheon, Mrs. Everett A. Wood of West Tenth street, on Thursday complimented a little group of winter visitors to this state from her former home, Sedalia, Mo.

Guests found their places by means of gay little St. Patrick place cards which formed a vernal border to the spring flowers centering the table. Adding to the colorful effect of the blossoms were corse bouquets of sweet peas which formed a part of the centerpiece which were distributed as dainty luncheon favors to the party left the table.

Covers were placed for the hostess, Mrs. Wood and for Mrs. John T. Heard who with her husband, former Congressman Heard, is spending the winter at the Blinnmore in Los Angeles; Mrs. C. E. Smiley of Orange and her houseguest, Mrs. Pearl Savage of Salt Lake City; Mrs. John T. Walmsley of Sedalia; Mrs. S. K. Ballard and Mrs. Herman Scott of Long Beach together with the latter's aunt, Mrs. Camp, and a little group of Santa Ana friends who formerly claimed Missouri as their home and who included Mrs. Otto Russell, Mrs. W. H. Harrison, Mrs. C. E. Shriver and Mrs. J. S. Green, who with her husband Dr. Green and their daughter, Miss Dorothy Green, recently came from Liberty, Mo. and her guests enjoyed an afternoon of friendly chat and reminiscences at a pleasant apartment on Tenth street.

Recreation Club Is Entertained
Friendly games, chat and needlework offered a varied program for the members of the Recreation club when entertained yesterday afternoon by Miss Margaret Carswell at her home, 819 Cypress street.

At a lively business session it was decided to meet soon for a full day of sewing when the small child of an invalid mother in this city will be furnished with a complete outfit of clothing. Mrs. F. S. Christain of Orange avenue will be the hostess.

Following the discussions of the plan, Miss Carswell served appetizing refreshments to her guests who included Mesdames Larson, H. A. Gerrard, F. O. Pierce, Clyde Gates, A. E. Crumrine, C. J. Puerrung, R. L. Gambill, C. J. Neal, G. G. Latimer, F. F. Christain and F. A. Plum.

Household Economics
St. Patrick would have felt very much at home at Ebell club yesterday had he dropped in to have luncheon with the members of the Fourth Household Economics section, for the hostess group, Mrs. W. V. Whitson, Mrs. Fred Bomboy and Mrs. E. U. Dickinson chose the saint's own color the decorative scheme of their attractive tables, arranged in the section room.

Shamrocks sweet into mint-flavored green sweetmeats, indicated places for the guests, and each table with its saucy Irish lads and lassies, its green candles in crystal holders and its green and white posies presented a most attractive appearance. The enjoyable luncheon stressed the vernal color scheme also and ended with individual angel food cakes shamrock adorned, and while ice cream with a heart of pistachio ice in shamrock form.

Gathering in the home-life lounge for the after-luncheon program, the members heard with interest the proposed plan of entertaining section husbands on Thursday night, April 2 at a cafeteria dinner and social evening for which Mrs. O. A. Haley, leader of the group, proffered her lovely home.

Committee chairmen for the evening were named by Mrs. Haley, each with the power to choose her aides. The chairmen will be Mesdames T. D. Knights, meat; Robert L. Conway, vegetables; James A. Tarpley, salad; Charles F. Mitchell, relishes; E. U. Dickinson, rolls; C. L. Johnson, butter; G. E. Bruns, coffee; Norbert Lentz, pies; and for the entertainment features, Mesdames George Richardson, G. H. Goodwin and W. V. Whitson, cards and games and Edward C. Edwin and F. E. Coulter, prizes. For the supper to be served cafeteria style, each member will take her needs in table service.

Following the business details, Miss Mary Thomson gave an extremely interesting account of the development of home furnishings from the rugs of skin and the rude boxes of primitive man down through the ages to the comfortable and handsome furniture of today. Brief descriptions of period designs in furniture, and especially of the beauty of Adam, Heppelwhite and Sheraton designs of early American colonial days were most interesting.

Roll call brought forth many useful household hints, all worthy of being passed on. Several guests were made welcome by the hospitable trio, among them being Mrs. James Tarpley's cousins, Mrs. J. L. Slipp and Miss Ruth Slipp of Corvallis, Ore., Mrs. E. C. Erwin's house-guests, Mrs. Grose and Mrs. Darwin of New York City who are spending the winter in Southern California; Mrs. George Denny, Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks, Mrs. C. G. Hitt, Mrs. Fred Preble and Mrs. Eleanor Elliott.

Second Section
Mrs. Elmer Burns, Mrs. Fred Rowland and Mrs. Ward Sutton formed the hostess trio who on Wednesday presented a delightful luncheon at the Ebell clubhouse at which two dozen members of the second Household Economics section were entertained.

St. Patrick appointments and favors made the tables most attractive.

Waffle Supper Proves Host's Ability As Chef
Demanding proof of Jack Olivari's oft-repeated assertions that heis without equal as a "waffle chef", a little group of friends descended upon the Olivariis last night at their attractive Orange avenue home and after a friendly evening of bridge, enjoyed crisp brown waffles prepared and baked by the host in defending his title of Orange County Waffle King.

The first of the delectable tidbits came as a prize for the one scoring high in bridge, for which tables were arranged soon after the arrival of the guests. Mrs. Clyde Walker was fortunate holder of high score, so when the card tables were spread with embroidered linens and arranged with wee silver vases of freesias, together with the pitchers of syrup and composites of ruby jelly which complement hot waffles, she was the first to enjoy the product of the chef's skill.

Others soon shared her pleasure for Mr. Olivari proved that he could mix and bake them fast enough to keep all three tables going with never a wait between waffles.

It was with much pleasure that the merry-makers learned the affair came near being an anniversary since 1909, March 14, will mark the wedding anniversary of last night's hosts. Congratulations on the fact were quite as friendly as were those upon Mrs. Olivari's success in having trained her husband so well in cookery.

Mr. and Mrs. Frances T. Isbell of Huntington Beach were the out-of-town guests while others present were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth and Mrs. Chenoweth's mother, Mrs. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walker, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flagg and Mrs. Eleanor Elliott.

Young People Enjoy Merry S. S. Party
In fulfilling the terms of their attendance test, the young girls of the Polyantha class taught at the First Christian Sunday school by Mrs. P. T. Porter last night entertained their successful opponents, the lads taught by Mr. Haskell.

The party was held in the church basement where Irish greens were much in evidence and where the girls prepared and served an appropriate dinner. The Blaney stone figured in much of the evening's fun and Irish games were played. Among winners in some of the clever contests were Dorel Kinger, Clark Barr, James Snow and Dean Musselman.

The Rev. and Mrs. P. T. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Robinson were among the adult guests while the younger folk present included the Misses Mary Arnold, Iola Barr, Harry Black, Coleen Hall, Vivian Hoffman, Katherine Lancaster, Jessie May Marshall, Doris McClain, Marie Rash, Mildred Robinson, Catherine Pierce, Vera May Smith, Ruth Whitford and Viola Whitford, hostesses and the honor guests, Clark Barr, Walter Cook, Roy Griest, Warren Hamilton, Lynn Hamilton, Owen Hitt, Dorel Kinger, Leitch Mallory, Cliff Placker, James Snow, Alvin Stauffer, Dean Sullivan, Francis Hall, Thomas Smith and Dean Musselman.

Attractive and the menu served by the hostesses was a thoroughly enjoyable one. When members assembled later in the lounge, Mrs. Bruce Monroe conducted the business session in the absence of the section leader, Mrs. Alex P. Nelson.

In elaborating on the civic theme of the afternoon, members responded to roll call with things they would like to see accomplished in Santa Ana, including among things, a better park system, supervised playgrounds for children, improved street drainage, more ornamental lights, a Y. W. C. A., improved water system, stricter building restrictions, and kindred improvements.

A. L. Olliger, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke most entertainingly and very much to the point in discussing civic needs and held the close attention of his hearers as he outlined Santa Ana's growth and development as it should be.

Mrs. W. L. Grubb, a section guest, and a member of the city park commission, talked entertainingly of her work and also of the restrictions imposed by limited means.

Friendly Dinner For Departing Members Of Store Force
Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rankin of 815 Spurgeon street were genial hosts at a delightful turkey dinner Thursday evening, honoring six of their "girls", who are now or have been employed in the Rankin Dry Goods store.

Mrs. Rankin used the St. Patrick motif charmingly in her table decorations, a bowl of beautiful painted jonquills centering the table. The place cards were in the shape of shamrocks, all of the other appointments harmonizing prettily.

The evening was spent enjoying the radio. The adorable baby of the household, wee Patricia Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rankin, was the center of attraction.

Honor guests were Miss Carrie Miller and Mrs. Marie Fowler, who have just recovered from recent illnesses and who were given a hearty welcome; Miss Theodora Beecher, Miss Ethel Bradley and Miss Ethel Coffman, who are leaving soon for New York city, and Mrs. Belle Woodside of Fullerton, formerly with Rankin's, whose marriage will be an event of the near future. Covers were also laid for Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rankin, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Rankin sr.

Santa Anans Enjoy a Reunion With Old Friends
Thursday Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Flagg, 211 Orange avenue, were in Los Angeles as luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rising, the latter a former resident of Dixon, Ill. The affair was a happy reunion for Mr. Flagg and several of the other guests, who over forty years ago were friends in that Illinois city.

Mrs. Rising had as her guests her brother, Mr. Fred Dimick of Dixon, and her sister, Mrs. Mary Burrows of Lancaster, Pa. Mr. Dimick is county clerk of Lee county of which Dixon is the county seat.

During the luncheon hour Mr. Dimick received a telegram stating that his chief deputy had died suddenly from pneumonia, which necessitated the immediate return of the tourist to his desk. This was a great disappointment to Mr. Flagg, for he was anticipating the pleasure of showing Mr. Dimick and Mrs. Burrows over the captivating county of Orange upon the occasion of a contemplated visit in Santa Ana.

Fifteenth Birthday Is Celebrated
Duane Smith celebrated his fifteenth birthday anniversary very happily on Thursday evening with a family party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith on East Sixth street.

The home was prettily decorated with fragrant sweet peas and freesias and the evening hours were whiled away with merry games as there were seven young cousins of the honored youth in the company. Young Duane was showered with appreciated gifts, and late in the evening a delectable collation of sandwiches, cocoa, ice cream, cake, candy and popcorn was served.

Those present beside Duane and his parents were the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Henderson of Stockton, Mrs. Blanche Henderson and children, Erman, Clifford, Opal, Lyle and Rena of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Therman Means, and children Virginia and La Verne, and Mr. Jess Clark.

Woman's Bible Class
At the community house of the First Christian church tomorrow morning, the Woman's Bible class will strive to exceed last Sunday's attendance when 150 members were present.

Supplementing the lesson on the Resurrection to be presented by the class teacher, Mrs. F. M. Gist, will be a most pleasing program to which little Miss Harriet Morris will add a reading and the class of young women taught by Mrs. M. E. Mayhill will give a pantomime, "Rock of Ages."

In the intervals of the pantomime will be musical features with Miss Nade Smith at the piano, the Misses Miriam Adamson and Ferdina Peters singing duets and Miss Mildred Stump playing the violin. On Wednesday, March 25, the class will enjoy the quarterly birthday party when the members residing in the southeast section of the city will be hostesses. Mrs. T. P. Kingley will be in charge of general arrangements with committee heads to be Mrs. A. W. Crain, program; Mrs. Alta Hoff, refreshment; Mrs. George Graves, decorating and Mrs. T. Hugh Townsend, reception.

House-Guests Offer Incentive For Luncheon
Mrs. Alice Turner of 108 East Eleventh street was hostess yesterday at a luncheon of pretty appointments which called together a little group of friends to greet guests in the city.

Roses and ferns were used to deck the living room of the home while in the dining-room where guests assembled for the delectable 1 o'clock luncheon, the table was lovely with a great bowl of fragrant ranunculus as the floral arrangement.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Turner, Mrs. John Sexton and her houseguest, Mrs. Hazel Miller of Spurgeon, Mo. Mrs. William Speer and her houseguest, Mrs. W. M. Barnes of Hickman, Ky., and Mrs. W. D. King.

Happy reminiscences of days in Missouri, the home-state of the hostess, were interspersed with enjoyable Victrola numbers during the pleasant afternoon following the luncheon.

Improvement Club To Meet at Y. M. C. A.
Planning weekly meetings for mutual benefit along the lines of right living and thinking, a little group which will be banded together as the "Help One Another Club," will have Mrs. Clara M. Coleman for their leader.

Mrs. Coleman has been conducting such clubs very successfully at Costa Mesa and East Newport and has decided to have the members join with her Santa Ana friends in general meetings here. Anyone interested in such improvement will be given a cordial welcome each Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Past Presidents
Entertained Thursday at the Orange home of Mrs. Louane Leech, the Past President's club of the Daughters of Veterans enjoyed an appetizing luncheon and a friendly social afternoon.

Mrs. Leech used great baskets of yellow flowers in the adornment of her home and massed the same bright blossoms on the dining-room table where shamrock place cards and other St. Patrick's day appointments harmonized with the floral effect. Favors were gay paper caps which gave a festive appearance to the luncheon.

In the afternoon a period of needlework, music and friendly chat was enjoyed by hostess and guests who were Mesdames Leech, Margaret Robertson, Eva Bell, Mae Thomas, Elizabeth Auld, Emma Chapman, Esther Gardner, Flora Phillips, Caroline Adams, Floss La Bounty, Harriet Leipsic and Nellie Parker.

NIGHT COUGH QUICKLY RELIEVED
This is the substance of a letter received from H. W. Webb, Quincy, Ill. "I coughed a great deal, especially at night. Tried almost everything and have found nothing to equal FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND. One dose relieved my cough and I rested well all night. One of the largest selling cough medicines in the world. Contains no opiates. Safe for children. Insist upon Foley's. Refuse substitutes. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

AWARD BADGES TO BOY SCOUTS AT GATHERING

Attended by 1200 persons, the quarterly rally of Boy Scouts of Orange county was held in the auditorium of the Orange Union high school last night. The meeting was featured by the awarding of the Eagle badge to Thomas Berry Jr., Huntington Beach and the Life and Star badges to Gerald Davis, Fullerton.

The attendance prize, a calf skin banner suitably inscribed, was awarded to the troop No. 3, Orange, the "baby" organization of the county. G. D. Gates is the scoutmaster of the troop.

Hereafter, the members of the troop are expected to be firm believers in the figure 13. The first meeting of the organization was held Friday, February 13. There were 13 boys present and on Friday, March 13, they received the attendance honor.

Move Headquarters
Announcement was made by Roland E. Dye, Scout executive of Orange county, that beginning Tuesday morning the headquarters of the organization will be in the new building across from the Y. M. C. A. The process of moving will be started Monday and is expected that the office will be ready for the transaction of business in the new home Tuesday, Dye said.

Present on the stage during the presentation of the badges were the members of the court of honor, Col. M. B. Wellington, Santa Ana; Waldo O'Kelly, Fullerton; P. C. Blauer, Santa Ana; Rev. H. J. Hill, Orange; Dr. M. A. Patton, Santa Ana; E. E. Smith, Anaheim; W. V. Whitson, Santa Ana. The presentation was made by Col. Wellington.

Gets 21 Awards
Young Berry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Berry. He is 14 years of age and joined the Boy Scouts March 17, 1923. Twenty-one merit badges are required for an Eagle badge.

Gerald Davis, winner of the Life and Star badges, will be in line for an Eagle badge at the next quarterly rally, to be held in Fullerton, June 5. He already has 19 merit badges. He became a Scout November 22, 1922.

Jerome Shaffer, impersonator, rendered an entertainment program at the gathering.

SECOND CONFERENCE ON ARMS IS SOUGHT

be kept off the new agenda. Though France prevented limitation of auxiliary naval craft at the first conference, it is hoped that she will finally agree to such limitation at the proposed conference, provided limitation of land armaments and Pacific questions are not brought up.

France will be more apt to enter the conference if Germany does not attend and, it is said, it only light cruisers and submarines are to be discussed, Germany, along with all other nations without large navies, can be excluded from the conference without giving offense.

This plan, which is probable, though not final, provides for invitations only to Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

Financial and Market News

SMALL SIZES NOW IN BETTER DEMAND

LOS ANGELES, March 14.—A somewhat easier feeling on California Navel oranges in sizes 176s and larger with a stronger tendency on 200s and smaller was the outstanding feature of the market this week. The price differential between sizes is steadily decreasing. Small sizes are now commanding greater attention. They are bringing more money than at any time this season. Prices as a whole are uniformly high. Well regulated distribution of the reduced supply of navel remaining for shippers should insure high prices for the balance of the crop.

Mid-week temperatures replaced the prevailing spring-like weather in some sections of the middle west. In this week, real open weather of sufficient duration to enable the trade to push the sale of oranges vigorously is now in order. When King Winter has sent his fury, the active selling campaign on small sizes is opened by the peddler.

The March first estimates on the remaining supply of navels showed a reduction of around 600 cars from the total that was available on February 1. After deducting shipments of 114 cars from February 1 to March 11 inclusive, the remaining supply of navels for shipments would approximate 3500 cars. The probable size of the navel crop cannot be estimated with any degree of accuracy as yet. Guesses range all the way from 15,000 to 18,000 cars.

Offer 4 Cents a Pound
Growers in Central California districts report offers of 4 cents per pound for separated navels. On the other hand, strong statistical situation on supplies, growers are inclined to hold for higher prices. Cash buyers fear that the attitude of the growers is out of line unless the damage to Valencia by the frost is greatly undervalued.

F. O. B. California quotations on fancy, free from frost navels are as follows: Sizes 166s and larger, $1.50 to $1.75; 176s, $1.25 to $1.50; 186s, $1.00 to $1.25; 196s, $0.75 to $1.00; 200s, $0.50 to $0.75; 210s, $0.25 to $0.50; 220s, $0.10 to $0.25.

The total Florida citrus crop for this season will run close to 27.75 cars oranges and 22.22 cars grapefruit according to the latest estimates of shippers. Of this total, after deducting shipments to March 12 inclusive, there are 724 cars oranges and 5 cars grapefruit remaining for shipment.

Last season the Florida crop totaled 31,850 cars oranges and 10,111 cars grapefruit. To March 12th, inclusive, a total of 21,672 cars oranges and 12,446 cars grapefruit had been shipped, leaving 10,178 cars oranges and 7,665 cars grapefruit to go after that date.

The season extended into the second week of July. The new acreage is coming into bearing in Florida consists mostly of late varieties, thereby prolonging the shipping season.

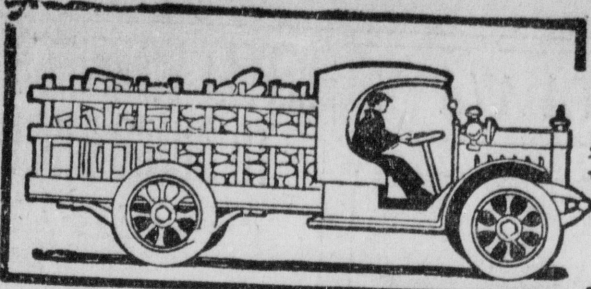

Market Market Easier
The market on small size California lemons is a little easier. On 300s size the market is steady with a good demand.

F. O. B. California quotations are on a basis of $2.50 to $3.75 per box, ranging from Choice 300s to Extra Choice 300s. There are on hand and available for sale within the next thirty days approximately 200 cars of foreign lemons. For the corresponding period in 1922 there were 55 cars; 1923, 420 cars.

WARNING TO MOTHERS OF YOUNGSTERS IS REPEATED

Automobile Editor Backs Up Stand of "Big Chief" Made Last Week

EXPERIENCE WITH LITTLE TOT RELATED

Parents Are Urged to Apply Slipper to Impress Folly of Habit

By HORACE FINE
(Auto Editor of Register)

The personal experiences related in this column last week by J. P. Baumgartner, our "big chief" of The Register, should have impressed every mother and father in this city with the importance of watching their children when they are playing in the street.

Recital of the experience with a kiddy running out in front of his car was impressive. No doubt there are hundreds of other drivers in the city who could relate similar incidents.

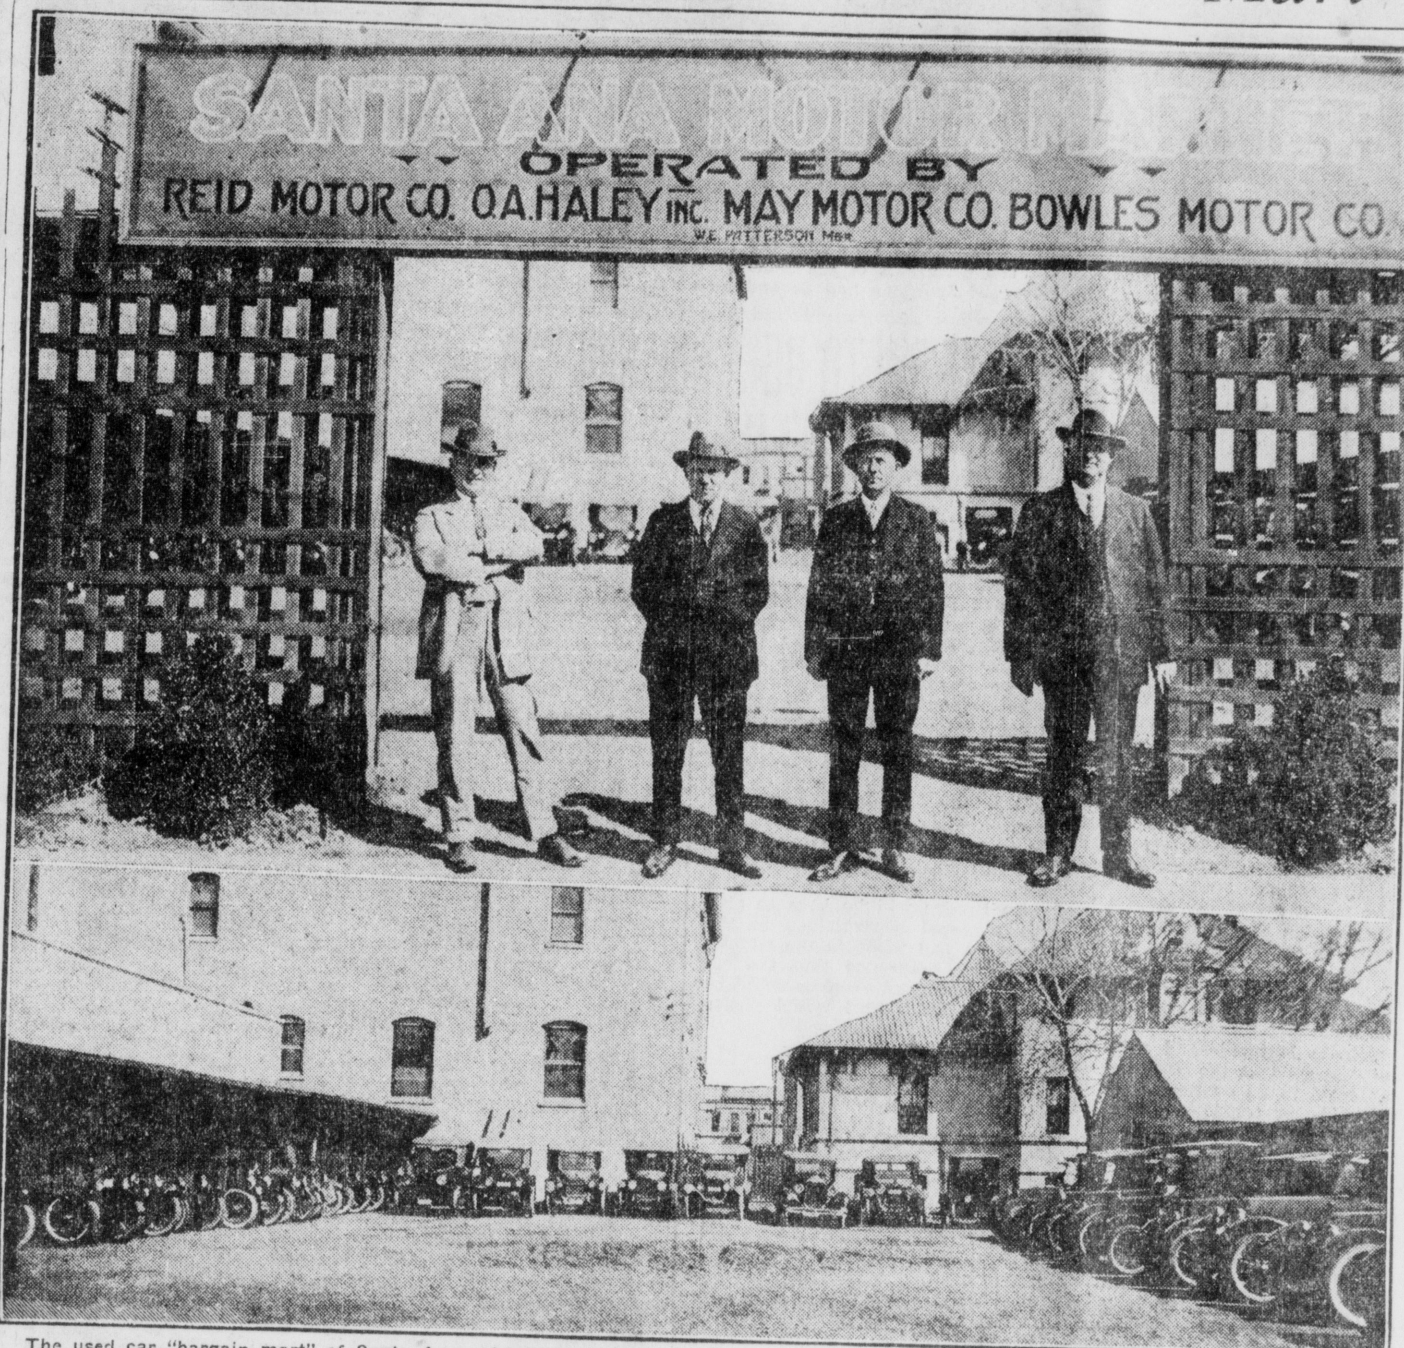

Picking up the suggestion to parents to watch their children, I would also direct attention to carelessness of parents in permitting little ones to "bolt" across an intersection in front of a moving car.

It is not an uncommon experience for a motorist to see a little boy or girl dart across an intersection ahead of a parent or of both parents. The little ones look neither to the right nor the left—they see only the point they are headed for on the opposite side of the street.

Small Boy Narrowly Missed
It has not been long since I had a "blood curdling" experience with a child of this type. Fortunately I was driving slowly and had my car under complete control—otherwise my car may have been the means of inflicting serious injury, an injury for which I in no way could have been held responsible.

I was approaching Fourth street from North Broadway and had slowed down for the intersection, when a little four-year old boy, with head up, darted across my path, going from the west side to the east side of Broadway. I saw the lad as I approached and never for a moment thought he would attempt to cross the street. His mother was with him. She screamed and called to the youth to come back—but he paid no attention, for

Combine For Central Used Car Mart

The used car "bargain mart" of Santa Ana, where four dealers of the city are co-operating in offering to the public the opportunity to secure reconditioned cars at prices that are right. Formerly known as the Orange County Certified Motor Car Market, the name has been changed to the Santa Ana Motor Market, the location being 511 North Broadway. Top—A front view of the market. Change of Name In Local Market Is Announced By Auto Dealers

The name of the Orange County Certified Motor Car Market, 511 North Broadway, today had been changed to the Santa Ana Motor Market, the change being due to the fact that four local automobile dealers have acquired the market for placing their used cars.

Co-operating in operation of the market are the Reid Motor company, Buick dealer; the May Motor company, Nash distributor; O. A. Haley, Inc., county agent for Dodge Brothers cars, and Bowles Motor company, Studebaker agent.

According to W. E. Patterson, manager of the market, these firms re-condition all cars placed on sale, with each car carrying a guarantee as to its shape.

He says that assembling of the cars at the one place gives a prospective used car buyer opportunity to inspect at one time the offerings of the four concerns. He pointed out that the machines are bought

SANTA ANA AUTOMOBILE SHOW WILL BE ALL-LOCAL AFFAIR; FLOOR SPACE ALREADY SOLD

With all space sold to Santa Ana exhibitors the Automobile show to open here Monday and to continue through the following week, including Saturday, March 28, will be strictly a Santa Ana affair and will demonstrate to home people the extent of the local automobile industry.

According to Bob Cavenagh, who is managing the affair, the exhibit here will be one of the best ever held in the county, and it will be exclusively a showing of automobiles, trucks and accessories handled by Santa Ana dealers.

Auto dealers in particular have made arrangements for showing some of the very latest models in their respective lines, while accessories men have arranged for a good display of novelties in addition to their regular line of wares.

The big tent to be used here has been in use at the show at

ORDINANCE IS DIRECTED AT SOLID TIRES

Claim Streets In Orange Are Being Damaged By Unprotected Trucks

The city council of Orange has thrown a bomb into the ranks of owners of solid tire trucks by proposing an ordinance that virtually will rule such trucks off the streets of that city.

Already given its first reading and scheduled for adoption at the next meeting of the city governing body, the ordinance is intended to eliminate solid-tired trucks from the streets there. It is asserted that such vehicles are breaking down the paved streets.

Provision is made that all motor trucks over one ton capacity operating in Orange as carriers of freight, rock, sand, gravel, asphaltic materials, mixtures or any other dead weight, whether engaged on a regular schedule or intermittently, be required to be equipped with pneumatic tires on all wheels.

If adopted, and reports from Orange are to the effect that there is no doubt of the ordinance being passed at the next session, the law will put a stop to the entrance to that city of a great many trucks engaged in delivering these merchandise and materials from outside points. It is said truck owners are preparing to wage a battle against the proposed legislation.

A section of the ordinance says "It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to operate a motor truck of one ton capacity, over or on the streets of Orange, as a carrier of the above materials to and from points within, or within and without said city, unless said truck is equipped with pneumatic tires on all wheels."

Upon conviction, the ordinance provides a fine not to exceed $100, 30 days imprisonment or both for first violations, while second and subsequent offenses are punishable by a fine not less than $50 nor more than $300, 90 days in jail or both such fine and imprisonment.

NEW COACH MODEL ON DISPLAY HERE

The Bowles Motor company this afternoon was displaying in its showroom at 207 East Fifth street a model of the new Studebaker coach this being the first showing here of the new car.

Built for the same long-time ownership and service of all Studebaker products, the Standard Six Coach, on a 113-inch wheelbase and with a 50 horse-power engine, teams with quality of construction.

In the appearance of its Belgian blue lacquered body, with black satin-finished, lacquered top, the new Coach contains full steel panels, and the same high quality of framework as characterize all body building by this pioneer vehicle-making company.

Roominess is one of the outstanding characteristics of this coach. Ample clearance between folding seat and the doorpost; wide cushions for the driver and passenger of the folding seat; plenty of leg room for all passengers; these are conspicuous.

Upholstery is woven from mohair and wool, rich in its grey-blue coloring with grey stripe effect or cushions—handsome and durable. It covers the same deep, springy, durable cushions which have given Studebaker cars a reputation for riding comfort not reached in any other car at any price.

The back of the folding seat can be tilted forward to enable rear seat passengers to enter or leave the car without forcing occupants of the folding seat to get out.

The Studebaker coach has a cowl ventilator, operated with the foot and, inside, the driver's floor board is of heavy, embossed aluminum, shutting out dust and cold drafts. Cowl lights are of distinctive, torpedo shape. The dome light has its switch right in the light itself. Garnish moulding on door sills and rear-quarter windows is of walnut finish. Doors have attractively gathered pockets and the rear window is shielded by a silk curtain. Wheels are natural wood finish. The entire lighting control has been placed on the steering wheel, right at finger tips, so that to dim the lights, a driver need not take his eyes from the road at a critical time, nor need he grope under the wheel in the dark, hunting for the switch.

To end foot fatigue, a ball-type foot accelerator is provided, to which pressure may be applied from any point of its circumference; now the foot may rest flatly and comfortably on the aluminum footboard.

As on all Studebaker power plants, the oil returning to the crankcase after going through the engine, returns within a circular screen, so that the grit and sediment never reaches the reservoir of oil. The entire crankcase can be drained without getting under the car and without soiling the hands, by turning a valve which is located beside the engine oil filling pipe.

WHOS WHO in MOTORDOM

ROYCE W. LANTZ

Prominent in the automobile business in this city is Royce W. Lantz, of Lantz Bros. garage, located at 517 North Main street. Royce Lantz has been in the automobile game in this city for the past twelve years, with the exception of two years passed in the service of Uncle Sam as a machinist in the navy. Lantz Bros. have been in their present location for about three years. They run a general service and storage garage, offering day and night repairs. The garage never closes.

Recently the firm took over the Moon agency and present reports on sales made by Lantz Bros. speak well for the popularity of this car.

Royce Lantz has been a resident of this city since his boyhood days and is one of the best known young business men in Santa Ana.

When the world was first to enlist, he was one of the first to enlist. He went into the navy in the capacity of a machinist and served until the armistice. After being discharged he returned to Santa Ana and re-entered the automobile business.

Lantz is a member of the American Legion and also of Voltaire 527 La Societe des 49 Hommes et 8 Cheveux.

In his school days he was noted as a football player and he is now one of the stars on the Legion football team. He is also a bowling enthusiast and for some time was a member of the Legion bowling team.

Although a very busy man Lantz is never too busy to take an active interest in any matter that is for the best interests of Santa Ana, the city of his choice.

Fines Exceed Million Dollars In Three Months

The division of motor vehicles has compiled figures from its records showing that a total of $1,025,734.49 was collected in fines and forfeitures in the California courts for violations of the state motor vehicle act for the period beginning September 1, 1923, and ending January 1, 1925.

This would indicate that it is costing motorists in the neighborhood of a million dollars a year to violate the state law. The money thus collected is used by the several counties and cities for the construction, maintenance and improvement of bridges, roads, streets and culverts.

The records indicate that speeding and driving while intoxicated are most costly of all offenses, the fines assessed on these charges being $652,921.35, or more than half of the total. Reckless driving and rules of the road are next the fines from these charges being $272,598.20.

Other fines were reported as follows: Illegal lights, $45,650.90; no plates, $14,242.50; open muffler, $20,467.50; no operator's license, $6,316.50; miscellaneous, $15,557.45.

Arrest of these violators was made possible by the work of the state traffic officers as well as county and municipal authorities.

The division also announced today that licenses of 22 motorists were revoked during the month of February. Thirteen of these were convicted of driving while intoxicated.

TWO COUNTIES TO JOIN IN CELEBRATION ALONG ROUTE

Supervisors, Municipalities and Organizations to Be Represented

STATE COMMISSIONER WILL SEVER RIBBONS

Caravan of Cars to Start at Los Angeles For Initial Journey

With representatives of boards of supervisors, municipalities and organizations of Orange and Los Angeles counties present, ceremonies will be held at 12:30 p. m., next Saturday in formal opening of the new coast boulevard between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach.

The exercises will be held at the bridge across the Santa Ana river about midway between the two cities, and the boulevard will be thrown open to traffic when Nela T. Edwards, of Orange, member of the state highway commission, severs huge ribbons suspended across the bridge in the form of a barrier.

Opening of the road means a new avenue to Seal Beach, Sunset Beach, Huntington Beach and Newport Beach from Los Angeles, and will make possible rapid development of the beach between Newport and Long Beach.

As outlined by J. A. Armitage, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Huntington Beach, a caravan of cars containing the board of supervisors, members of the chamber of commerce, officials of the Auto Club of Southern California and others will proceed from Los Angeles to Long Beach, where it will be increased by cars carrying officials and members of the chamber of commerce and merchants and manufacturers association of that city.

Young Women to Assist

Continuing south over the boulevard the delegation will be met at Seal Beach by Orange county officials and officials of various municipalities and proceed to Huntington Beach. Here it is proposed to have young women representing various beach cities join the party. Each city will be represented by a young woman in costume, with a silk badge indicating her city identity. The caravan then will go to the bridge for the opening ceremonies.

At conclusion of the exercises, the party will continue south over the boulevard to Orange County Harbor Yacht club, East Newport, where a complimentary luncheon will be served to 100 guests, including various officials.

Celebrate at Oil City

The highway will be decorated its full length so that it will be outlined to visitors and the public generally. Each community along the route is planning special entertainment for the day. At Huntington Beach, the municipal band will play all the afternoon and free picnic grounds will be open to the public. Musgrave's dance hall and

Hudson, Essex Distributors Get New Agent

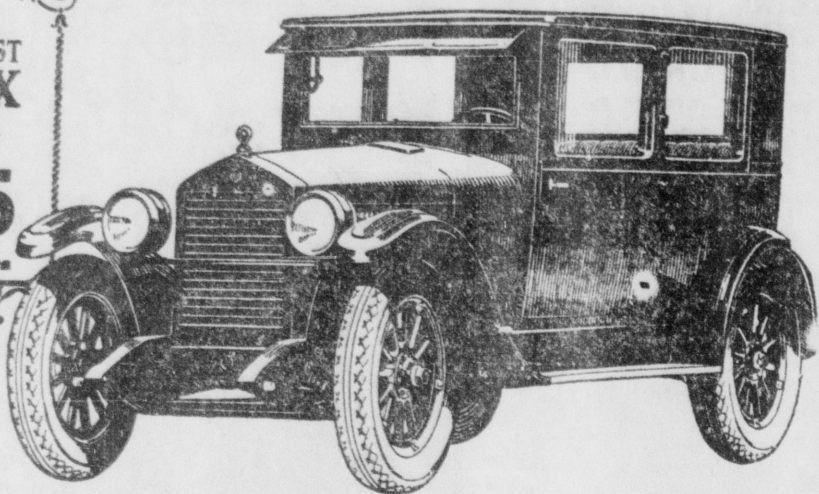

J. B. Matthews, with twenty years' experience as an auto salesman, has come here from Los Angeles to be identified with the Hudson and Essex agencies, it was announced today by Harvey Traveller, salesmanager for the Townsend Motor company, Hudson and Essex dealer. Matthews was with the Lafayette dealers in Los Angeles for a number of months, prior to which time he was associated with different manufacturers in the east in sales promotion work and appointment of agents. He will move his family here from Los Angeles the first of April.

MOVIES IN AUSTRALIA
WASHINGTON, March 13.—Motion picture theaters of the better class which were first built in the United States, are now being erected in Australia where, according to reports received by the department of commerce, a $4,000,000 theater was opened recently in Sydney. You Cannot Get Equal Style Performance and Reliability Within Hundreds of Dollars of Its Price

Essex is a totally different type. Its advantages are exclusive because patented. It gives results never before attained in any car:

- Low price, without disappointment in looks or reliability.
- Economy without sacrifice of performance.
- Stability and highest roadability without unnecessary weight.
- The riding ease of large, costly cars. The handling ease of a bicycle. Utter simplicity in design.
- The lowest maintenance cost, we believe, of any car in the world.

A Car You Will Be Proud to Own

These qualities make it the most wanted and largest selling car of its class in the world.

It is the finest Essex ever built. It is the smoothest, most reliable Essex ever built. It is the best looking, most comfortably riding Essex ever built. And the price, because of volume, is the lowest at which Essex ever sold.

Surely you cannot be satisfied with less than Essex offers when its cost is but little more than cars of the lowest price.

The Country Has "Gone" Nash

February Biggest Month of Business in Nash History

The cyclonic sweep of Nash sales is like a political landslide.

For five successive months Nash business has swept far beyond the highest previous records for these same months.

Nash sales at all motor shows to date average 114% higher than 1924.

February, though a winter month and shortest of the year, saw mounting public demand drive sales and production to the highest point in Nash history.

And March has opened up with an added momentum sure to speed sales far past the great February record.

the plunge will offer other attractions. Long Beach will contribute to the entertainment with the boys' band of fifty pieces.

George P. Wilson, mayor of Newport Beach, has issued a proclamation calling upon his subjects to decorate their places of business and homes and join in the parade of automobiles from Huntington Beach. He suggests that residents of that city drive to Huntington Beach by way of Costa Mesa and be there in time to join the parade at 11:30 a. m.

One Stretch Incomplete
Between Newport Beach and Long Beach the new highway passes through Alamitos Bay, Naples, Seal Beach, Anaheim Landing, Sunset Beach, Los Patos, the Bolsa Chica gun club and Huntington Beach. Later the road will be extended from Newport to Laguna Beach and still later to Laguna Beach and still later to Laguna Beach and still later to Laguna Beach.

The coast boulevard has held the interest of the public for some time past," Armitage said. "Its need is becoming very urgent and motorists are looking forward to the time when the highway will be completed. It will not only effect relief to present congestion on the single highway inland but will make available a scenic highway in full view for approximately forty miles along the Orange county shore line. It will lend scenic charm for tourists and motorists seeking to add attraction and pleasure to their travels.

right and that they are passed on to new owners at prices that are attractive.

Change Sentiment
"The four dealer organizations operating the market are responsible firms and all have reputations for square dealing," the manager said. "Their reputation is back of the used cars and this in itself is an important consideration for the person who is in the market for a used machine.

Honest appraisals, made by men who know the resale value of an automobile, is a feature that insures purchasers all value when they buy a car at the market." Discussing the public's complete change in attitude towards the used car from one of distrust to one of faith, Patterson said there was a time when the used car was a bugaboo.

"People believed—and not without reason—that the used car was subjected to an overdose of abuse before being traded in for a new car," Patterson said.

Improve System
"But with improvements in manufacture and wholesale distribution of automobiles, came also improved merchandising and selling methods. The public was not only sold cars, it was educated to their care and preservation—and shown that to abuse a car, later to be traded in for a new one, was to add to the purchase price of the new car through a smaller allowance for the trade-in. "Our firms—and all reliable firms—adhere rigidly to a policy of honest appraisal to prevent loss to the firm, to be passed on to the used car buyer. We know that we give values here and we know that our patrons are satisfied. We have established the market on the principle of full value and square dealing and upon that principle we expect to make the market of real service to the used car buying public of Orange county."

something extravagant, according to Cavenagh.

During the show, a special program of entertainment will be put on each evening, starting at 9 o'clock. The program will be in charge of the Mille Marlowe Exposition company. H. Elmo Le Breque, is manager of the company. He will be remembered here by many merchants as the director of an exposition here four years ago at the corner of Birch and Third streets, when merchants co-operated in a style show as part of the entertainment program each evening.

Le Breque will be here to give his personal supervisions to the program, and while in the city today gave assurance that the entertainment each evening would be of a character that would please everyone.

Weaker Sex Is No More, Claims Business Woman

NEW YORK, March 14.—There is no "weaker sex" in the business world today, and an ambitious woman, even if she is married and has children, can have a successful career if she so desires. That is the opinion of Mrs. William Laimbeer, former society woman and mother of three children, who in twelve years has climbed from an unimportant clerkship to Wall street executive.

"If a woman is a good manager she can keep her home in order, give her children the proper care, and still be successful in business," Mrs. Laimbeer said.

Ambition's the Thing.
"What many women lack is ambition. One must have plenty of that. Some women will tell you there's no use of their trying to succeed in business because of the prejudice against the female of the species. Frankly, I can say that in all my twelve years' experience I have received the same treatment that would be accorded a man in my position, and I am utterly convinced this so-called prejudice is purely mythical."

Mrs. Laimbeer, who is a widow, will become on March 2 the head of the women's banking department of the National City bank. Her associates say her high position in society had no part in her success.

With vibrant brown hair, parted in the middle, delicately tinted cheeks, large, frank eyes, small, artistic hands, and an almost constant smile, Mrs. Laimbeer is the personification of charm. Her voice is soft and fascinating, her mannerisms graceful and expressive.

Bobbed Hair Is "Piffle."
The reporter asked what she thought of bobbed hair. But Mrs. Laimbeer didn't take it seriously. She described it as "piffle," and said bobbed hair didn't affect a woman's business career one way or another. Her hair isn't bobbed, however.

Mrs. Laimbeer laughed again when reference was made to A. S. M. Hutchinson's contention that woman's place is in the kitchen. "That's an antiquated idea that is perfectly ridiculous," she said. "It might have been all right years ago, but it doesn't hold now. Since the war women have come into their own."

"A woman by tradition accepted the responsibilities of the kitchen and stayed at home because her mother and grandmother had stayed at home. It's different now. There are infinitely more opportunities for women to fit themselves into the business world, and in many cases they can fill positions more efficiently than men could.

"Woman has found herself and her influence in business will be apparent more and more as time goes on."

CROWS AROUSE CURIOSITY
BIG HARBOR, Wash., March 14.—Huge flocks of crows, flying southward over Puget sound, have aroused the curiosity of old-timers. But there's no mystery about it, according to Trevor Kincaid of the state university. The crows are going to White Salmon, Wash., where heavy rains recently broke through an irrigation dam, causing the flooding of farms and orchards. The rushing water carried thousands of salmon, smelt, and other fish far inland, where the receding water left their bodies to decay.

REPEAT WARNINGS TO GUARD KIDDIES

he was bent on getting across the street.

Should Be Spanked

That kid should have had a good sound spanking—and in public. Did he get one? He did not. Application of the slipper then and there would have made an impression on that lad that would have caused him in the future to wait and cross the street with his mother. The boy later may repeat the act and get hurt—and then his mother will regret that she "spared the rod."

It is rather embarrassing for a parent to whip a child on the street, but one had better suffer that embarrassment than suffer the heartaches that would follow injury to his offspring from an accident of the nature under discussion. That suffering would be intensified, too, by the thought that the accident might not have happened had the parent chastised the kiddy at some time when he had darted across the street ahead of him.

I am the daddy of two girls—and when they were small they were just like other children. I had to break them of the habit of bolting across a street ahead of me—and I spanked them in public for this very thing. They soon learned to know that they should wait at an intersection and cross the street with me or their mother. I mention this merely to show that I practiced what I am "preaching" here.

Gentlemen:

We are writing to let you know of the wonderful service that we have given on our cars. We have five cars, three of which are delivery cars that travel over all kinds of roads day in and day out.

About a year ago we started using your Western Giant tires and we find them to be the best tires that we have ever used. They wear completely out on the tread before the sidewall gives way. Most of the tires we have used, and they are many kinds, usually have blown out the sidewall before the tread was anywhere near gone.

Good tires and we find them to be the best tires that we have ever used. They wear completely out on the tread before the sidewall gives way. Most of the tires we have used, and they are many kinds, usually have blown out the sidewall before the tread was anywhere near gone.

With your tires over many bad roads, we are getting around sixteen thousand miles of service and many of them have been on the cars over a year. It is indeed gratifying to know that we can get tires that give us this kind of service.

Yours very truly,
Chas. E. Allen

PREDICTS AJAX WILL ACHIEVE HIGH PRESTIGE

The new Ajax Motors Company, subsidiary of Nash Motors, will be quick to attain a prominence in the industry that parallels the fame of the parent organization, in the opinion of W. C. May, of the May Motor company, local Nash dealer.

"Certainly no automobile has ever faced its introduction under such favorable auspices," May said. "The manufacturing record of Nash, with its richly important contributions to motor car progress, should alone be indicative of the success which lies ahead for this new enterprise. In the past nine years Nash has become a name known the world over and the product of the vast Nash plants has earned a standing and esteem but seldom duplicated. Nash Motors is among the handful of manufacturers building 85 per cent of all the cars produced annually. The unique financial condition of Nash is dramatically demonstrated by the fact that close to 70 per cent of Nash total assets are current assets. The balance sheet with total assets amounting to nearly $46,000,000 shows not a single dollar of good will in the Nash capital structure, nor is there any bonded indebtedness, nor any bank loans, nor any money owing except for nominal current liabilities. Nothing could testify more convincingly to the business acumen, farsightedness and honest effort at the helm of the Nash organization. "To expert leadership and financial soundness a third powerful asset can be added to the birthright of the Ajax Motors in the form of vast manufacturing resources. As a result there are assembled within the Ajax factory walls at Racine, the very newest precision machines and equipment inventive genius has devised. The great Ajax plant has been laid out for efficient and economical production along the most modern lines as evolved and perfected by C. W. Nash himself.

"The Ajax car will be produced practically in its entirety within the boundaries of the Ajax factory buildings, save for the enclosed bodies to be produced by the Seaman Body Company, in which company Nash Motors owns one-half interest."

CAR SHORTAGE IN SPRING IS SEEN

By JOHN N. WILLIS
President of The Willis-Overland Company, Toledo, Ohio.

The automobile industry faces a car shortage this spring. Despite pessimistic utterances by prominent manufacturers that we have reached a saturation point, conditions right now presage a demand that will be in excess of the supply that is now being built. Conditions indicate general business prosperity. Even the most cursory glance over reports from the field reveals a spirit of optimism that augurs well for the future. The picture as a whole is most encouraging. It is the opinion of those in close touch with the situation and those who have made a study of economic conditions that the slack period is over and that the present upward trend will continue, possibly to new business peaks.

Unforeseen factors may arise, but on the face of conditions as they are at present, I cannot see anything but a great year for American business in general and for the motor car industry in particular. Contrast this with the low inventories at practically every motor car factory and the few cars on hand in dealer's stocks. The country within a few weeks will be clamoring for more automobiles, but excessive caution, due to the bitter memories of the early months of 1924 which failed to come up to expectations, has dictated a comparatively low output. Three years and again two years ago there was a shortage of motor cars and a tremendous wall went up that we needed more cars. The entire industry began to produce automobiles at a feverish rate without due regard for the actual demands, with the result that today the picture has been reversed.

Careful analysis shows that the demand which at first blush seemed so vast, was in reality scarcely a few per cent above the actual supply; during the past year the supply was relatively the same percentage above the demand, but by no means was it of the proportions to justify the cry of "saturation point" which has once again been raised.

Back in 1910 the possibility of saturation in the industry was first discussed. The setback proved to be nothing else but a temporary lull in the industry. We have had other lulls since then and, undoubtedly, as the cycle of industry continues to revolve, we will experience still more in the future. Fill a sponge with water and you have reached its saturation point; squeeze it and you can refill it. Similar cycles prevail in the steel industry, shoe trade, furniture making, etc., but no one speaks of a saturation point in connection with these.

In dollar-for-dollar value the motor car today rates higher than any other commodity. Over a period of years the price of the automobile has been declining while

LINK BETWEEN ELSINORE AND CORONA READY

St. Patrick's day, Tuesday, March 17, has been set for the official opening and celebration of the completion of the paved highway between Elsinore and Corona, according to announcements received by A. L. Oliger, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

For several years past Corona and Elsinore residents have been looking forward to the complete paving of 22 miles of road between the two cities, and now that the "dream of years" is realized, it is said, effort or expense will be spared in putting on a celebration filled with interest and variety.

On the same date the first link of the Elsinore-San Juan Capistrano mountain highway to the sea will be opened to travel. The government and Riverside county have expended over $15,000 on the Elsinore end of this road during the past eight weeks, it now being open to a point about three miles east of the Orange county line. This is the road that will eventually place Elsinore 24 miles "nearer the Pacific."

While the official celebration will be held Tuesday, the citizens of Elsinore are offering a three-day program, starting Sunday, March 15. A rodeo, airplane flights, speed boat races, swimming contests, golf tournaments and band concerts are announced as head line features of the three day festival. The golf tournament will be held on Sunday on the 18 hole championship course of the Southern California Athletic and Country club.

The Riverside County Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular monthly meeting in Elsinore on Tuesday, to which chamber representatives, city officials and newspaper men of all Southern California cities have been invited.

"This new highway should be of considerable value to Santa Ana and Orange county cities for it opens up new trade territory and will permit a number of the inland cities in the Elsinore valley to have closer access to the Orange county beaches," Oliger said.

It is hoped that a large number of Santa Ana and Orange county citizens will attend this celebration and show our neighboring cities that we are interested in this splendid piece of development and that we are truly a neighboring community."

Other goods have remained on a higher level than prevailed before the war. Possibly even further reductions may be anticipated by some manufacturers as they reduce their profit per unit in anticipation of satisfactory earnings in larger volume.

Savings in production by more up-to-date factory methods and equipment are a still further reason which manufacturers believe justify new and lower prices. Closer buying of raw materials and equipment will also be a leading factor in the adjustment of price levels. Closed bodies, for example, offer opportunity for cutting costs in keeping with announced reductions. Naturally, the motor car builder who produces the best goods at the lowest price will be the one whose products will be bought in largest quantity. The manufacturer who cannot keep up with this keen competition is bound to suffer as it is possible that his entire production may not be purchased.

HOW TO ANSWER BLIND CLASSIFIED ADS

In answering blind addresser (for instance, L. Box 26, Register), be careful to use the precise address given in the ad. Write address plainly. Letters brought to The Register office do not require stamps. Always enclose your answer in sealed envelope.
T. F. (TUL) FORBID ADS
If an advertiser who has made application for credit and opened an account with The Register Credit Department in the regular form desires to have any "liner" advertisement published continually "until further notice," he may do so by signing a "T" order to that effect. An advertisement thus begun will appear regularly until countermanded by written order.
The Register postoffice department is conducted for the benefit of patrons who wish to come to the office. Advertisers are furnished with identification cards, which must be presented to The Register office. For the protection of our patrons, replies are not given except on presentation of box card.
No record is kept of the names and addresses of patrons using The Register postoffice, and therefore no information concerning these is made for the words "Box A-234, care The Register."

Legal Notice

No person shall remove any garbage from the premises upon which it is deposited, except a permitted collector or to a designated, immediately adjacent, place for collection by said collector.

SECTION 2. Garbage offered for collection must not contain tin cans, bustible refuse or other noncombustible refuse or dead animals, and the permitted collector shall have the right to refuse to collect any garbage containing any such foreign substances. The responsible person offering such designated garbage must dispose of it in a sanitary manner acceptable to the health or sanitary officials of the County of Orange.

SECTION 3. All garbage transported over any public highway must be contained in a water tight, metal tank, with a close fitting cover or heavy canvas, with the rubber seal in place to prevent dropping of garbage upon the highway. Railroads and other common carriers must meet this transportation requirement. All garbage conveying tanks must be cleaned and disinfected inside and outside at least once a week when in use.

SECTION 4. In case of any emergency, such as the appearance of an epidemic of communicable disease of men or animals, the Board of Supervisors of the County of Santa Ana, California, will receive bids up to the hour of five o'clock P. M. April 6th, perintendent of the City of Santa Ana, California.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check, 75% of the amount bid, to guarantee that the successful bidder will enter into contract with said time of delivery of whole or part.
The Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana, California, reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees, told newspapermen covering the club's training camp, that he is going to rebuild his team. There is nothing startling in the announcement and it is surprising only in that it was such a long time coming.

The Yankees perhaps are the oldest club in the major leagues, not only in average age but in the number of years that the team has been held intact as a championship club or contender. Huggins admits that the Yankees have reached the peak of their power and that he will have to start building a new team as there are only three players on the club who can be figured to have any future.

Four Promising Youngsters
Lou Gehrig, Earl Combs, Walter Beall and Nick Culp are the players Huggins regards as the nucleus for a new team and he has ordered his scouts to bring 'em in and bring 'em young.

Huggins, for reasons that may not be his fault, has not paid much attention to young ball players since he has been in charge of the Yankees. He has been charged with running Lefty O'Doul and Jimmy Mitchell, two of the most promising young players to come up in years. He kept them on the bench so long without giving them a trial that they didn't get the chance to develop themselves and they lost their spirit.

It was a tough spot that Huggins was dropped in, however. He was employed by the richest club in the major leagues and he was told to go and get a pennant and to pay no attention to the price. Huggins couldn't experiment with youngsters. Look what Connie Mack has done in the last two years trying to build up a new team. He hasn't had a winner yet and it is only this year that he has a promising club. Huggins had to go out and buy men that were sure players. He did it, in the face of violent criticism, and he won three championships. He would have won the pennant last year if his players had stuck with him.

Players can't be bought any more. The Yankee owners learned that last winter when the purse was opened in an attempt to plug up several weak spots on the team and when the money fails there is nothing to do but go out and find young players.

The purpose of the club to reorganize the team and build it up with young players was shown when George Wiltse, the veteran former Giant shortstop, was engaged as coach. Wiltse's knowledge of baseball isn't confined to pitching. He is one of the smartest men in baseball and he has been particularly successful with young players because he has a world of patience and all the personality of a good teacher.

The average life of a championship baseball team is hard to figure. But the difficulty in keeping a championship team together can be seen by glancing at the records which show that only one major league team—the New York Yankees—have been able to win more than three consecutive pennants.

Giants Have Young Blood
The New York Giant team, which won its fourth championship last year, was almost entirely different from the team that won the pennant in 1921. McGraw is a genius in making plans for the future and when a veteran fails, he always has a young player to take his place.

Heinie Groh is really the only catcher's box, and if he falters, McGraw has Freddy Lindstrom, a 19-year-old star, all ready and set to take his place. He has Terry reid for first base and Frank Frisch and Travis Jackson are hardly more than kids.

BRIEFS from the TRAINING CAMPS

LAKELAND, Fla.—The Indians loose playing lost a slugging match to Indianapolis, 9 to 8 yesterday.

STOCKTON, Cal.—The Cardinals earned their first shutout of the season by defeating Sacramento 3 to 0. A game at Fresno today and one at Oakland tomorrow caused Riekey to keep Hornsby out of yesterday's battle.

TARPOON SPRINGS, Fla.—A squad of the St. Louis Browns will motor to Clearwater today to play the second battle with the Brooklyn Robins.

SAN FRANCISCO—San Francisco meets the Kansas City Blues in the second game of their "home" series here today. Two games will be played Sunday. The Seals buried the black cat yesterday after beating the Kansas, 6 to 5 in 11 innings.

SAN JOSE, Cal.—Portland Beavers will show their wares to the Valley folks tomorrow in two games with the San Jose All Stars.

BOYS "DITCH" MARBLES
CAIRO, Ill., March 13.—Boys in a grammar school here threw away their marbles after hearing a sermon by an evangelist in which he denounced all forms of gambling.

Men's Singles Tourney to Be Held April 12; Mixed Doubles Go Is Tomorrow

An Orange county men's singles tennis tournament open to any racket wielder in this district, will be the next big court event to be staged here under the auspices of the Santa Ana Tennis club, according to plans announced today by John Cress, secretary. The court classic will be held at the local high school Sunday, April 12. If entries are numerous enough to take more than a single day for play the semi-finals and finals will be played the following Sunday.

Efforts will be made to obtain representatives from virtually every tennis center in the county. Such experts as Randolph Bell, Emil Foust, George Preble, R. Smith, W. Lambert, Keith Beisel, Theron Wilson, Clifford Marston, Herbert Smith and Don Jerome are expected to enter.

A six-man team representing the Santa Ana Tennis club will journey to Long Beach Sunday, March 29, to meet the crack Long Beach Tennis club's aggregation in match play. The Seaside hold several decisions over the locals in previous tournaments.

A mixed doubles affair will be staged on the Poly courts tomorrow beginning at 9:30 a. m. Entries may be made up to 9 a. m. The schedule for these contests follows:
9 a. m.—D. Park and Miss Ida Thomas vs. Randolph Bell and Miss Frances Crockett; Emil Foust and Miss Annie Tarver vs. John Cress and Miss Jean McGill; Clifford Marston and Miss Thelma Patton, bye.
10:30 a. m.—Semi-finals.
2 p. m.—Finals.
The winning combination will receive beautiful trophies.

IRVINE, BEES DIAMOND FOES ON TOMORROW

Tomorrow's Baseball.
Irvine vs. Salt Lake Bees at Irvine.
Van Dien-Young Co. vs. Shields Paint Co. at Legion park.

Orange county's brightest baseball attraction since last fall when Walter Johnson and Babe Ruth as well as a host of other celebrities were seen in action at Brea, is scheduled for Irvine park tomorrow afternoon when the Champion Beepickers go against a combination of regulars and rookies sporting the suits of the Salt Lake, Pacific Coast league, club.

The Bees, training at Long Beach, will send over a squad of some 15 players under the guidance of Les Cook, veteran catcher, Phil Mulcahy and Elmer Reiker, pitchers; Johnny Kerr, infielder, and Fred Coumbe and Joe Connolly, outfielders, are among the regulars slated to give the Beepickers bugs a treat.

Fred Hinrichs or Arch Hawkins will pitch and "Bus" Callan will catch for Irvine.
Another unusual battle for the afternoon is that booked for American Legion park, West Fifth street and Sullivan avenue, between the Shields Paint company and the Van Dien-Young company, both local aggregations.

Gross' Work Impressive.
Gross, a shortstop, made a distinctly favorable impression on me. He is the rangy type, a six-footer with the ideal build. He handles himself like a big leaguer in the field, has a great pair of hands and doesn't seem to be bothered in the least by false bounds.
Gross would hardly be classed as a youngster. He is 29. Never a great hitter in the minors, he batted less than .300 in the Texas League last year. He is easily the most finished rookie in the Red Sox camp. He is certain to be carried and it wouldn't surprise me if he made Dudley Lee step at a dizzy clip to retain his shortstop berth.

Built Like Ruth.
Rogell is a mere kid, only 20 years of age, but a great looking prospect. He reminds you a bit of the great Hans Wagner in build and style, although he even now possesses more grace. He bats either way and is fast. Bill Wambach will know that he is around.
Now for the big boy, the punch of the rookie quartet, Ernest Vache. Built along the Babe Ruth lines, except that the waistline is much less. Vache takes the same wild cut at the ball that Babe does, only from the right side of the plate. For a big fellow he is very fast. His arm is just so-so, but a throwing arm doesn't mean much any more. How many players do you see thrown out at the plate during the season?

There are other likely looking youngsters in the Red Sox camp, but Vache, Gross, Connolly and Rogell impressed me most. Manager Fohl appears to have something to work on.

Boomer, during an important match, shot his ball into a sand trap. As he pitched cut the ball hit the side of a bunker close by and then apparently disappeared. Search was immediately instituted for the elusive pellet but it could not be found. Finally Boomer put his hand in the pocket of his coat and—there was the ball.

It had rebounded after striking the side of the bunker and had dropped in without being noticed.

CALL MEETING FOR ADOPTION OF SCHEDULES

Fifteen Teams May Enter
Hope to Play Games at Night on Poly Grounds

Formation of a strong Santa Ana indoor baseball league, in which fourteen or fifteen local organizations may compete, will be perfected at a meeting here Monday night, according to an announcement today by persons interested in the venture.

The gathering will be held at the office of the Southern California Edison company, Third and Main streets, and will be called into session at 7:30 o'clock.

The following concerns, with names of their representatives, have been asked to attend:
The following concerns, with names of their representatives, have been asked to attend:

Southern Counties Gas Co.—Wayne Nelson and J. C. Hayden; Southern California Edison company—W. L. Deimling and Walters; Excelsior Creamery company—"Tex" Bergman and C. F. Heit; Robertson Electric company—Orlyn Robertson and Carl Trusty; Y. M. C. A.—Memphis Hill and R. R. Russell; Kiwanis club—"Boss" Warren and R. R. Miller; McFadden Hardware company—"Eeny" Wilcox and Clyde Walker; Santa Ana Commercial company—Bill Cole and George Lackey; Fluor Construction company—Pete Fluor and Dwight Wilcox; Santa Ana high school—Ed Covington; Tustin—Miller.

Representatives from Orange and the Chandler Furniture company also have been requested to have representatives present.
No less than 12 teams are assured, it was understood. This would allow for one large organization or two smaller ones, whichever the indoor baseball moguls may decide.

One of the most perplexing questions the representatives must thresh out is the arrangement of playing grounds. If two leagues are organized it is probable that two contests will be played each night, one on the Y. M. C. A. diamond and another at Poly field, the use of a small part of which has been promised by the board of education. Another arrangement, it was pointed out, could be made by playing double-headers at one or the other diamond.

J. C. BASEBALLERS LOSE TO ORANGE HI

A flock of seven runs in the fifth inning defeated the Santa Ana junior college baseball nine in a game played yesterday at Orange against the high school aggregation of the neighboring city. The final score was 12 to 7.

"Crip" Marston was on the mound for the first five innings until Coach "Boss" Warren jerked him from the box after the rally and replaced him with Abe Johnson. Johnson allowed no more runs for the three remaining innings.

The first home run scored by the junior college this year was made by Johnson. Players used in the lineup by Coach Warren were: Righter; Marston; Dunkin; Clark; 2b; Eudaley; Johnson; ss; Armstrong; 1b; Claves; cf; Steele and Schroll, rf.

MAKE STOCKINGS TO FIT ALL ILLS

DETROIT, March 14.—Stockings to match any ailment—belladonna green, nux vomica red, caffeine white, syrup or squill blue, balm of Gilead brown and mustard plaster pink—are being shown in hostelry shops for spring wear.

How pleasing it will be to Milady when she starts to choose between a digitalis blue or ipecacuanha remains to be seen; also whether a prescription will be necessary for such purchases.

Patrons of the shops have already found that the apothecary shades predominate in spring wear. Pharmacists are reported considering the possibility of including hosiery in the already well-expanded drug store stock as they feel only through services of a registered druggist can proper advice be given as to appropriate shades for spring wear.

Imagine fashionable ladies peer- ing critically through lorgnettes and murmuring—"which shall I take—that floride yellow or the cassia acutifolia green?"

Or waste a moment conjuring on the possibilities when the shop girl struggles with the names of such starworts of the pharmaceutical world as rhubarb and panchina blue.

Old family remedies and cough syrup colors are expected to gain most favor for street wear, while the elusively worded shades of exotic hue will be reserved for grand balls and dinner parties.

Gas Safety Code

Is Bureau Plan

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Rules forbidding use of unauthorized attachments with gas burners are among the provisions of a safety code for the use of gas, now being prepared under the auspices of the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce and the American Gas Association.

Government experts and others on the committee regard use of such attachments as dangerous, because of the likelihood of generating carbon monoxide. Gas burner designs are under the experts, it is held, and attachments that change the conditions under which gas is burned should be used only with the advice of such experts.

Another rule considered essential is one providing that "no appliance shall be installed which is not susceptible of adjustment to effect complete combustion of the gas supplied to it under all reasonable service conditions."

The rules being formulated are intended to apply in homes and residences.

Capital Letter

By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, March 14.—A foretaste of a collision that seems certain to come when the new congress gets under way next fall or winter was given spectators in the United States senate when Charles Gates Dawes, newly sworn in as vice president, addressed to that body his views as to what its conduct has been in the past and should be in the future.

As Dawes talked, one could sense a developing atmosphere of conflict. The address was pitched in the key of a querulous grandmother chiding an unruly child.

Dawes scolded, chided, ragged. His thin, high-pitched voice rose to even shriller notes than on the occasion of his famous "Hell an' Maria" utterance.

The sedate senate, jealous of its traditional dignity and power, at first sat shocked and silent.

The idea of this newcomer, this fire-eating politico-financier, reading in a lecture on its rules and its conduct within five minutes of taking the oath as presiding officer, at first stunned it into speechlessness.

Then, as Dawes pounded the desk in front of him and renewed his exhortation—the senate laughed.

That laugh revealed one thing beyond any possible mistaking. It revealed that the senate doesn't take its new presiding officer half as seriously as he takes himself.

To an observer, who has watched and studied senate psychology for more than a decade, it seems plain that Dawes had got off on the left foot at the start.

Senators can be led when they cannot be forced. They are not different from other stubborn animals in that regard.

Dawes has a large popular following, due in no small part to his penchant for picturesque speech.

The senate is not unmindful of this popular strength. Recognizing it, they would have followed with some show of enthusiasm at least if he had made it possible for them to appear to do so of their own free will and volition.

But after the Dawes diatribe in his inaugural address, it is too much to expect sovereign senators to toe the mark like a lot of unruly schoolboys simply because teacher has taken them to task.

When leading senators of his own party are moved to mirth, as they were during the final stages of the vice president's inaugural address, it does not forebode well for said vice president's ability to enforce discipline in the future.

Chicago contributed one high-light to the senate in addition to the vice president, during the inauguration ceremonies.

Conspicuous on the senate floor, among the dignitaries in cutaways and Prince Alberts, was a big, deep-chested, swarthy gent in a dinner coat and broad expanse of starched shirt front.

Inquiry revealed him as "Diamond Joe," boss of Chicago's Little Italy, and a power in Republican politics in the Windy City.

Ask your grocer for a loaf of Queen bread baked at the Home Bakery.

U. S. May Hear Ancient Music In New Opera

GUATEMALA CITY, C. A., March 14.—Music in which is mingled plaintive minor strains which depict the deepest emotions of those ancient people known as the Mayas, blended harmoniously with the subtle and elusive melody of nature's own repertoire, form the basis of a new opera given for the first time recently in Guatemala and Salvador, where it caused something of a sensation.

If conditions warrant, this melodious Maya opera, "Quiche Vinac," will be heard in New York. The book of the opera is by Virgilio R. Beteta, and the music by Prof. Jesus Castillo, both Guatemaltecos.

The Indians of Guatemala are more closely allied with the ancient Mayas than are the others. Prof. Castillo has made an exhaustive study of the music of the present day Indians of Guatemala. But knowing that such music must partake something from Spanish influence, and wishing to obtain the pure, primitive tonal effects of Maya melody, he devoted years to living in remote mountain regions. Here he has heard the sounds of nature which inspired the ancient Mayas; the wind in the trees, the roar of the tempest and cataract, the voices of the birds, the cry and call of wild animals, and the myriad sounds of the great outdoors.

With an ear trained and sensitive to such sounds, Prof. Castillo has succeeded in separating from the music and melodies a present-day Guatemalteco Indians that part which is of Spanish origin, leaving intact and apart that portion which is truly Mayan.

ENGLAND LOOKS TO ASIA FOR COTTON

LONDON, March 14.—In her frantic efforts to shake off the cotton yoke of the United States, Great Britain has returned to a supply market of four centuries ago—the fields of Asia Minor.

Liverpool has been all keyed up lately awaiting the arrival of 1,000 bales from the port of Mersina, the first shipment of the kind since the sixteenth century. If the product proves satisfactory, it is anticipated that the Lancashire spinning mills will have added an important source of supply as a further means of becoming independent of the American market.

It was from this quarter of the Turkish empire that Britain first began to draw her cotton supplies. These Turkish imports were the mainstay of cotton spinning in England before the days of Arkwright, a father of the industry, and before cotton cultivation in America assumed serious proportions.

But the march of modern progress, with its complex of up-to-date methods, left Asia Minor lagging behind and the old-time Turkey-British cotton trade was suspended. Its revival has now become possible through the establishment at the scene of growing of the first cotton ginning factory ever to rear its stack in that area. This plant prepares the output for the English market.

The factory is located at Adana, the headquarters of one of the three cultivating areas, and Mersina is its natural outlet. The two other areas are the hinterland of Smyrna and the valley of Sakaria. It is said that Adana can produce an annual crop of 100,000 bales, her potentiality being estimated at a minimum of 800,000 bales to a maximum of 2,000,000.

Postage Stamp Ad Idea Takes Hold In Italy

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The Italian government has recently put into operation a system of advertising by which postage stamps sold within the country serve as advertising mediums, according to consular reports received by the Department of Commerce. So far, the report said, only stamps of the 25 and 50 centime denominations are being used for this purpose.

The new stamps are the same as the old ones, except that they are twice as large as the ordinary stamp, the lower half being used to advertise some product. A Roman advertising agency has been given an exclusive contract by the government to handle the soliciting of business. The agency receives 50 per cent of the receipts, while the remaining 50 per cent is turned into the national treasury.

Some sections of the Italian press have criticized use of stamps for advertising on the ground that such procedure is undignified for a great nation.

Ant Eater Kills Argentine Hunter

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina.—A report received from Avia Teral, a village in the Argentine Chaco, relates an extremely rare incident which occurred there which ended in the death of a Chaco hunter after struggling for over an hour with an ant eater.

Two residents of the locality, Candido Martinez, 50, and Isidoro Cantero, 23, started out together on a hunt in the woods each taking a different direction after agreeing to meet at a certain point.

Not long after separating Cantero heard his friend's dogs barking and a couple of shots fired. Following the direction of the shots, Cantero discovered Martinez lying on the ground, dying. He had been attacked by an ant bear and a body-to-body fight had taken place. Martinez died a few moments after having told his friend his story.

The ant-bear has the reputation both in the Argentine Chaco and Brazil, of being an inoffensive animal. Its principal object in life is the destruction of ant hills and the consumption of their contents.

"CHARLEY'S AUNT" OPENS HERE TOMORROW

Plays may come and plays may go, but 'tis said in the theater that "Charley's Aunt" will go on forever. No play has had a more interesting or extensive "career" than this famous old farce by Brandon Thomas, which, in film form, begins a week's engagement at the West End theater tomorrow. Syd Chaplin has the leading role.

After thirty-three years in every corner of the globe, it is still going strong and now that it has been translated into the universal language of the screen it is said "the old lady" has taken a new lease on life and will be delighting our great grandchildren as it delighted our grandparents.

"Charley's Aunt" made her debut at Bury St. Edmunds in Suffolk in 1892 with W. S. Penley starring. The play was then brought to London, being given first at the Royalty theater and then at the Globe where it ran continuously for four years (1466 performances). The fame of "Charley's Aunt" spread far and wide and seven touring companies started out through the provinces. Several companies are still touring with it in England, and each year it is put on in London where it is one of the "draws" of the holiday season.

Years ago the play was taken up abroad and was even played in China with a Chinese "Charley's Aunt." It was played in Germany twenty-five years ago and is nearly as well known in German theatrical traditions as it is in England.

"Charley's Aunt" was the ex-Kaiser's favorite play. He himself once admitted it. During the war, many hot-headed Germans protested that as Brandon Thomas, the English author, had died before the war broke out, his offense was purged.

"THE DEVIL'S CARGO" TO CLOSE RUN TONIGHT

An old Sacramento steamboat, a stern wheeler of the type used on the river 75 years ago, was secured, refitted and put in shape for use in "The Devil's Cargo," which closes at the West End tonight.

The boat was found by Fleming's representatives in San Francisco.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

WALKER — Vaudeville and "Yankee Speed," with Kenneth McDonald.

WEST END—"The Devil's Cargo," with Pauline Starke.

YOST — Vaudeville and "The Speed Spook," with Johnny Hines.

McDonald, the famous stunt man of the movies, stood out as the ideal personage to typify the real young American "go getter."

The speed with which he avails through this remarkable picture will enthrall the picture-going public. Marvelous settings were constructed for the feature, and a cast of stars was selected to support McDonald. "Yankee Speed" is an adaptation of the famous story, "The Mystery Castle," by Robert North Bradbury.

"THE PRICE OF A PARTY" AT YOST SUNDAY

Hope Hampton, Dagmar Godowsky, Mary Astor, Harrison Ford and Arthur Edmund Carew

SUNDAY'S ATTRACTIONS

YOST—Vaudeville (five acts) and "The Price of a Party," with Hope Hampton.

WEST END—"Charley's Aunt," with Syd Chaplin.

WALKER—Vaudeville and "Butterfly," with Laura La Plante.

Besides seeing an all-star cast in action audiences are also given a glimpse of Florence Richardson's famous Girl Jazz Band, a feature of the famous Casino in Central Park. A number of star acts from Broadway music revues appear in the big cabaret scenes, with the elite of the Broadway "extras" filling the places at the tables.

"East side, West side, all around the town," is the favorite song of Broadway, and a glimpse of just about what it means is given in the picture.

"THE SPEED SPOOK" AT YOST TONIGHT

"The Speed Spook" with Johnny Hines in the feature role, which is now current at the Yost, is checkful of racing atmosphere, so much so that the truth to detail is remarkable. Upon investigation we were informed that all of the racing sequences which are so splendidly shown in the beginning of the picture were filmed at the Altono. Speedway during the running of the international 200-mile auto championship race last June and that the actual drivers listed such world-renowned figures as Jimmy Murphy, who won the Grand Prix in Paris in 1921 at the auto race held there; Tommy Milton, who has won no less than three hundred races; Earl Cooper, who placed second in the Indianapolis race; Harry Hartz, who holds the world's speed record of 123 miles per hour; Ira Vall, whose performances on dirt courses throughout the country have established him as one of the satellites of the racing world, and others too numerous to mention. With these intrepid drivers furnishing part of the racing sequences, it is no wonder that "The Speed Spook" boasts of the greatest racing scenes this reviewer has ever seen on the screen.

"BUTTERFLY" OPENS SUNDAY AT WALKER'S

Self-sacrifice of an elder sister for a sister who is wayward and selfish, but very natural at that, is the main theme of "Butterfly," which opens Sunday at the Walker theater. Its love interests and comedy make for fine entertainment.

Laura La Plante, Ruth Clifford, Norman Kerry and Kenneth Harlan are the featured players in "Butterfly," which was directed by Clarence L. Brown, from the widely read novel of the same name by Kathleen Norris. This story is one of the human kind; the characters are such men and women as can be found in most any circle of acquaintances.

Miss La Plante's work in "Butterfly" justifies the praise that has been given her work in previous universal starring vehicles. The other featured players are entitled to high praise for their understanding of the story's characters.

Other than the four principals in the cast, who do good work, are Cesare Gravina, Marguerite Livingston, Freeman Wood and T. Roy Barnes.

HEARS OVER OCEAN WITH SIMPLE SET

BROOKLYN, N. Y., March 14.—A 19-year-old amateur, sitting at the key of his radio transmitter, talks almost daily to operators in Australia, Africa, Europe, Alaska, even India—as a matter of course!

The boy is Edward M. Glaser, a student at City College in New York, president of the college's radio club, director of the second district executive council and division manager for the Hudson division of the second radio district. His station is 2BRB, operating on a wavelength of 75 meters.

From midnight to morning is his time, when amateurs are given freedom of the air and when static and other forms of interference are at their lowest. Then he taps his transmitting key and soon receives an answer.

Stations in the United States and Canada are local to him, though they may be along the Pacific coast. His "DX" reaches far out beyond the Atlantic and Pacific and half way around the globe.

Three Tubes
Yet the apparatus through which he hears far-off India and Africa and New Zealand is a simple three-tube, three-tube regenerative receiver.

Its efficiency, says young Glaser, lies in the extreme care he took in constructing it, in the use of the best apparatus, in the exact placement of parts and in careful workmanship.

And the antenna, through which Glaser has made his record both in transmission and reception consists of a single wire 25 feet long with a 50-foot lead-in!

Glaser usually transmits on an in-pitch of about 200 watts, although his 250-watt tube can raise this considerably. His motor generates 1200 volts current under normal conditions.

Listening Record
The remarkable part of Glaser's station, however, is his receiver. For two-way communication necessitates just as great efficiency in hearing, as well as in sending.

Glaser has carried on two-way communications with 3BQ, 2DS and 2YI in Australia, 2AC, 4AA and 4AG in New Zealand, with scores of stations in England and Europe, with the Italian cruiser San Marco along the coast of Brazil, with WNP, the official station of Donald McMillan, the explorer, when he was in the arctic, and with other such distant stations.

His transmitting set has reached out to India, almost halfway around the earth, and to other distant places. In all, says Glaser, he has communicated with amateurs in five continents and at points in the Atlantic and Pacific.

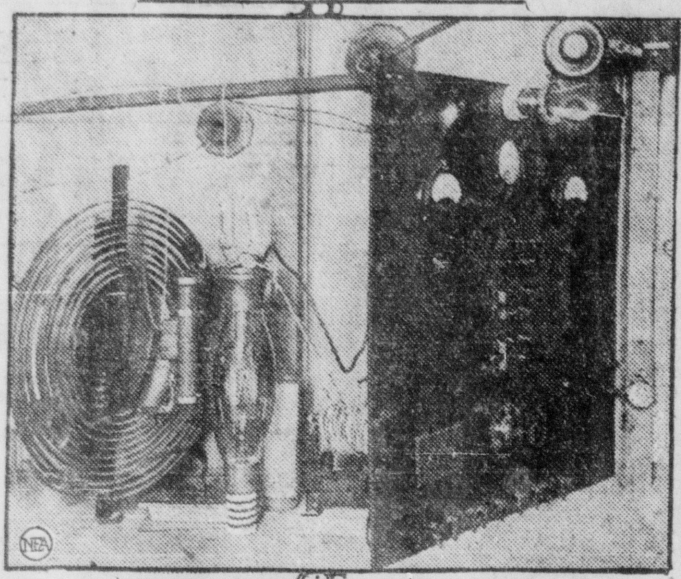

U. S. SENDS NEWS
Press dispatches will continue to be sent by federal stations from this country to others across the Pacific, because of lack of private commercial broadcasters. A new bill provides for this until June 30, 1927.

'NOTHER NEW TUBE
A. W. Hull, formerly of the radio laboratory of the Bureau of Standards, has perfected a vacuum tube that is said to emit pure electrons and therefore be more efficient than those now in existence.

SAME MUSIC, UNLINKED
Stations KFI at Los Angeles and WOC at Davenport recently were heard broadcasting the same piece of music simultaneously even to the rhythm. But the stations were not linked.

HALFWAY AROUND THE GLOBE

Amateur stations in the United States and Canada are local to 19-year-old Edward M. Glaser, when he transmits from his station, 2BRB, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He has reached to India, Australia and Alaska with his transmitting set and has heard far-off Australia with his simple receiver. Glaser's transmitter, with its 250-watt tube, is shown at the left. In the upper inset is Glaser himself. Below him is his three-tube receiver.

HERE'S SOLUTION TO WAVELENGTH PUZZLE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 14.—S. M. Kintner, research engineer of the Westinghouse Company, has the solution to the problem of assigning wavelengths.

This has been stumping the Department of Commerce in its efforts to give every broadcasting station an equal opportunity to broadcast.

Kintner's idea is to divide broadcasters into four classes, and instead of separating all by an arbitrary allowance of 10 kilocycles, as the Commerce Department has tried to do, he would give the super-power broadcasters a large allowance of 20 kilocycles and the rest could be separated by 10.

Thus, argues Kintner, there would be less chance of interference among the larger broadcasters or by them with the smaller ones.

According to Kintner's table, broadcasters of from 5 to 50 kilowatt power, allowing for higher power in the future, would be in Class I, between 300 and 416.6 meters.

Class 2 would contain stations down to 500 watts power, between 428.5 and 555 meters, separated by 10 kilocycles. Seventeen channels would be available in this band, but two assignments could be made in the same time area and there could be two time areas, one for the east and another for the west coast.

Thus there would be 68 possible assignments in this band.

Class 3 would include stations of 100 to 500 watts power, whose influence is mostly local. There would be 45 channels of 10 kilocycles between 205.5 and 294 meters.

Three time divisions could be allotted for these, and there could be three assignments of the same wavelength in each time division. Thus 640 assignments could be possible in this class.

The fourth class would include all stations below 100 watts power and higher powered stations that would have to await assignment when any of the other classes is filled. This class could hold an unlimited number of assignments.

ANOTHER FARMING COURSE BY RADIO

EAST LANSING, Mich., March 14.—Another correspondence course has taken the air.

This time it is broadcast free to radio fans by the Michigan State Agricultural College here. The course is flashed from the college's station, WKAR, each evening, and is arranged to cover nine or ten evenings for each subject.

The first subject is agricultural engineering. After that will come such subjects as water supply, sewage disposal and methods of power. Then will follow lectures on poultry, horticulture, home gardening, farm crops, animal husbandry and entomology.

Broadcasting starts at 7:15 each evening, eastern time, and ends at 8.

Things to Know in Building and Operating a Receiver

A fuse plug and an electric light socket provides a means of rotating a loop antenna. The plug is put on the end of the loop upright and the ends of the loop wire connected respectively to the threaded sleeve and the brass button in the center of the plug. Leads from the loop to the set are connected to the socket screws.

Sometimes tuning can be sharpened by the use of a counterpoise instead of a ground. The counterpoise is erected like an antenna "head high" beneath the aerial. If an outside counterpoise is not possible, try putting it in the cellar.

File a notch in one end of a celluloid knitting needle for use in bending socket prongs. Use of metal for the same purpose might cause you to "blow" a tube.

Two nails driven close together in the workbench will provide a method of bending bus wire if you have no round-nose pliers.

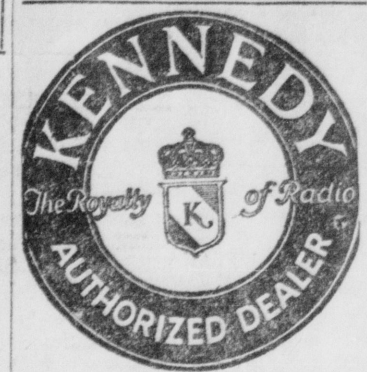

Throw waste bus wire in a wide, shallow box for use as short leads in the next set you build.

Cut down the length of the antenna to about 60 feet if you are having trouble tuning out local stations.

Reduce! Don't be fat. No effort so easy. Marcelle Phillips, 208 Medical Bldg. Phone 1732-J.

DAM IN THE SANTIAGO

While the orchardists of Villa Park and El Modena and the Irvine company are the most directly interested in the plans for building a dam across the Santiago canyon, the whole county is indirectly interested.

To those most directly interested, a saving of flood waters in prospect, the water thus conserved to be held for use on orchard lands during dry months.

Others who are interested, also directly, are property owners whose lands are endangered by the Santiago in years of extremely heavy rainfall. The impounding of the storm waters of the creek will obviate the advisability of a flood control district in the Tustin avenue section, such as was proposed after the 1916 flood, and, in stormy times, will reduce the flow of the Santa Ana river below the point where the Santiago joins the river northeast of Santa Ana.

The project for the construction of the dam is nearing the point when a contract can be let. For years the plans have been worked upon. The fact that many scores of property owners had to be considered necessarily made the developments slow. But there is clear sailing ahead. Within a few months construction will be under way.

Incidentally, it might be pointed out that the construction of the dam will add greatly to the permanency of water values in the Villa Park and El Modena sections. Ideally located, with good soil and good citizenship, those sections always have been looked upon as having wonderful advantages. Years ago the question of water was a serious one. Some eighteen or twenty years ago, the plan of spreading surplus waters on waste areas in the canyon was proposed, and was put in effect successfully.

The two water companies, acting jointly with the Irvine company, were the pioneers in Southern California in the conservation of water by the spreading method. While practically the entire flow of the creek has been saved for irrigation purposes during normal years, the spreading system is not effective in conserving the great flood that covers the creek bed during years of heaviest rainfall. It is through a reservoir only that the heavy flood can be saved.

SAFETY FIRST GROWS

One hundred and thirty-one fewer lives were lost in railroad crossing accidents in the United States during the period from June 1 to October 1, 1924, than during the corresponding period of the previous year.

This was due largely to the intensive safety campaign conducted by our railroads, which started June 1. The decrease in fatalities was made in the face of a 20 per cent increase in the number of automobiles in use.

Much credit for conservation of human life should go to the National Safety Council, an organization that does as much in its way to prevent accidents and deaths as the Red Cross does to administer to the victims of disaster. The council's activities have been largely educational. Its work, combined with the fact that an automobile competing with a railroad train for first place at a crossing has no chance to win—a fact that is slowly percolating into the brains of fool automobile drivers—is having a widespread effect.

RECORD OF WORLD COURT

With President Coolidge in his inaugural address giving his unqualified endorsement to the Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague, and with the House of Representatives having expressed its approval by the overwhelming vote of 301 to 28, there should be special interest in the record made by the court thus far, as reported by Manley O. Hudson, Harvard professor of International Law.

The court, he says, in its short career has returned three judgments and 10 advisory opinions.

"In each case full opportunity to present views has been given to all interested governments and even private organizations. With respect to each question, the opinion of the court has been accepted as a guide in difficult problems of international policy. If the court can proceed along these lines, and if governments continue to make use of its services, who will grudge saying that a long step has been taken on the road out of the swamps of conflict?"

This World Court, as Congressman Burton reminded the House when that body voted on its resolution of adherence, has been endorsed with as much unanimity as any proposal ever put before the American people.

"It has received," he said, "the express endorsement of the American Bar Association, the Federal Council of Churches, individual churches and clergymen, men's and women's club in every state, and American Legion posts. It is very natural that this should be true, because if there is any one traditional policy of our own United States, it is to seek an amicable settlement of controversies between nations."

It remains uncertain, however, how much effect all this will have on an irreconcilable Senate, which has the last word.

NO SUBTITLES IN THIS

Although on the whole American moving picture films are held to be the best in the world, an occasional film from abroad is hailed as better than any single picture yet produced here. Such is the recent German importation, "The Last Laugh."

A New York reviewer praises the picture thus:

"Jannings (the chief part) is perfect in character. The minor characters are superb. It is one of the best balanced casts I have ever seen. For direction it is simply unbeatable by anything the American director has yet shown us. Every shot is legitimate. There is nothing futuristic about the photoplay or sets. It is real realism."

The committee of the National Board of Review says:

"The Last Laugh" is one of the most important pictures yet to be observed on the screen. Its influence on future picture-making should be provocative."

A notable feature of this highly praised picture is the total absence of sub-titles and connecting legends. The burden of the portrayal rests upon the actor and the action. This appeals to the thoughtful critic of movies as correct. Ordinarily sub-titles interrupt the picture. The need for them indicates that the pictures cannot tell the story adequately alone, as good pictures ought to do. Sometimes subtitles are witty and entertaining in themselves and the audience laughs at them, regardless of the defects of the pictures they describe. Usually they are not witty; many run into maudlin sentimentality and are more annoying than helpful.

Some American directors already realize this fact and have reduced the subtitles to a very small number. A few have done without them wholly. The success of this wordless German film ought to add impetus to the elimination of all unnecessary verbal explanations.

Hughes, Man of Peace

Pasadena Star-News.

Charles E. Hughes retires to private life after twenty years of public service in prominent and varied positions. In all these years his voice, and influence, and energies have been for sound, clean government here at home, and for the promotion of peace with all the world. His service as Secretary of State has been distinguished and satisfactory. His latest public pronouncement before his retirement from the President's cabinet came as chairman of the governing board of the Pan-American Union, and was the presentation of thirty-one projects drawn up by the American Institute of International Law for codification of international law as it applies to the Western Hemisphere.

This proposal marks a definite step toward the formulation of what Mr. Hughes terms an "American international law." Mr. Hughes said that, thanks to American initiative, "we are on the threshold of accomplishment in the most important endeavor of the human race to lift itself out of the savagery of strife into the domain of law, breathing the spirit of unity and justice." Thus, throughout his long and distinguished career, the voice of Mr. Hughes has been lifted in behalf of just peace throughout the world.

As special prosecutor in insurance and other scandals in New York; as Governor of New York; as associate justice of the United States Supreme Court; as secretary of state—in all these high and responsible positions Mr. Hughes has acquitted himself with distinction and credit. He retires with the confidence, good will and esteem of the American people, and highly respected throughout the world.

Snow of Vast Benefit

Pasadena Star-News.

Considerable precipitation of snow has occurred on the mountain ranges of California so far this winter. The total is much greater than in the last two seasons—although below normal. There has been enough snowfall, however, to assure abundance of water, next summer, for irrigation and for power plants and manufacturing and mining enterprises. This largeness from the clouds will be of benefit almost incalculable. It should dispel the apprehension felt in some quarters that a water famine is in store for California. Such fears are foolish. The God of Nature equalizes precipitation on this state. There may be a cycle of three or four seasons of precipitation comparatively light. But these dry seasons are succeeded by several seasons of heavy precipitation. So that, through the course of the years, there is a balancing of precipitation and the state gets its normal supply, in the long run.

There is this to concern California: Conserving of the precipitation that the state does receive. If all the moisture that comes to the state, in the form of rain and snow, were conserved scientifically, by impounding dams, there would be no reason to fear water shortage, nor would there be any reason to fear floods.

Senators Well Placed

Riverside Press.

Both of the California senators received excellent recognition in the new committee assignments at Washington this week; and the positions they will hold in the coming session of the senate are strategic in their value to the interests of California.

Senator Johnson was assigned a place on the senate irrigation committee, a position that gives him a distinct advantage in fighting for the passage of the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill. He succeeds Bursum of New Mexico on the committee.

Johnson succeeded in getting five important committee posts. He remains chairman of immigration; is ranking Republican, next to the chairman on foreign relations; retains also membership on the territories committee. In addition he gets on the commerce and irrigation committee. He relinquished membership on the rules committee.

Senator Shortridge loses his places on the judiciary and the banking and currency, but gains a place on the important finance committee and retains membership on irrigation, naval affairs and privileges and elections. As a finance committee man he will have a part in the shaping of tariff and tax reduction measures.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

COST OF COLDS

More time is lost in working hours through colds than by any other cause. Most people suffer from one cold during the year, and probably the average person is a victim two or three times.

But loss of time from colds is not all. Every time you contract a cold your bodily resistance is lowered and you are an easier prey for other diseases. The cost to the body is greatly increased, as bronchitis, pneumonia, in fact all respiratory diseases and many rheumatic infections add to the grand total that will mean lost time later on in life.

Children of school age are also subject to great loss of time through colds. Carelessness and neglect are often to blame for this. Parents can greatly aid in cutting this down and saving the children from attacks of infectious diseases later in life.

Infections of the middle ear, mastoiditis, tonsillitis and infections of a rheumatic nature cause serious time losses which in 50 per cent of cases may be traced back to common colds.

The minute you feel tired and achey, while chilly sensations creep up your spine, accompanied by stuffiness in the nostrils, look out for a cold. Do something at once.

A good spray carefully used two or three times within 15 or 20 minutes will usually be effective. A fresh 10 per cent solution of argyrol will be found effective. Take a hot bath as soon as possible. Get into bed for a good sweat. The chances are your cold will be checked.

The real preventive against a common cold is the habit of keeping your body in good condition. Guard carefully against sudden chills or long-continued exposure. Whether you are strong or weak you can become a victim of the common cold if you leave yourself open to attack.

Defend yourself and your children against sudden drafts, exposure to wet and cold, insufficient clothing and any severe nervous strain, which always lowers the bodily resistance.

Hell 'n' Maria! the New Kid's Tough

How To Look At People

George Sarton in Scribner's

I never cease to admire the indelibility of human nature. It does not wear off. Whatever they may do, men are and remain what they are. They may deceive themselves; they may deceive others, especially the shortsighted ones, those who can not look from the proper distance.

Thus the surface of the sea seems quite dark when you are very near to it, but if you climb into the crow's-nest, you will see how clear the water is, and the higher you go the deeper you see.

If you have learned to contemplate life in its true perspective, how transparent, how beautiful it becomes! This transparency is, the very spice of life.

Among the many splendors of nature, what could be more impressive, more delightful than the infinite variety of the men and women who pass, mix, and play before our eyes?

Birds are pretty enough, and there seems to be no end to the beauty and fantasy of their plumage, but what of women! what of men!

Can there be anything under the sun more complex, more varied, more full of problems and enigmas of all kinds than the soul of man? The mystery seems bottomless, for even if we were to understand each soul in itself, we would still be at its threshold. For we would not yet know how each of these souls would react upon the others. Each possible combination, each pair of souls, opens a new vista of endless secrecy.

TO A FRIEND

Others have given you gifts worth the keeping,
All that I have is a song;
All that I have from the sowing and reaping,
Just a thin melody, lilting and leaping,
Blown from the dusk where the twilight combs creeping
Where you may wander along;
Thrown to the winds where the open road gleams,
Made up of nothing but star dust and dreams.

Others have given you things to remember,
All that I have is a song;
Gray as the shadowy strews of November,
Dull as the glow of a slow-burning ember,
Thin as the first falling snows of December,
Sent to you out of the throng;
Only a wandering, lyrical wraith,
Made up of nothing but friendship and faith.

NO. 6—GETTING THE CIRCUS STARTED

The March Hare took the Twins away down south.

They sat in his back and he covered the ground with leaps and bounds until he got there.

Down south it was summer and the circus was very comfortable—although it wasn't doing anything. It was just sitting still, you might say, in winter quarters.

"Now jump off," said the March Hare. "I've business to attend to."

Then when the Twins were off, he put on his glasses and took out a little book and began to turn the pages very fast.

"Where's the manager?" he said to the gate man.

"In there," said the gate man pointing over his shoulder with his thumb.

"Come on," called the March Hare to the Twins. "We're going in."

"Hi, there!" called the man. "You're not allowed—"

"Fairy Queen's orders," said the March Hare shortly, and the three of them went right along without any more words.

Pretty soon they came to a tent with a sign over it.

The sign read, "Circus Manager—His Tent," so in they marched without knocking. How could you knock on a tent!

"Hello, look who's here!" cried the Circus Manager. "Are you looking for a job, my friends? Have you got a new act?"

"No," said the March Hare, looking sharply over his glasses, "but it's time you were acting, my dear on the stage."

"What! Me act?" cried the Circus Manager. "Why I never did such a thing."

"Well then, start something," said the March Hare. "Children,

On The Side Lines

A Record of Individual and Independent Opinion.

(Which may or may not be in harmony with the views of the Register.)

KING IS ALL RIGHT—It goes without saying that the conductor of this column is not going to attempt to usurp the rights and prerogative of the editor, whose duty it is to dictate the policies of this newspaper. But, politics aside, it is fine when one can heartily agree with the editor, as in the instance of his very fine notice of the candidacy of Senator Lyman M. King, of Redlands, for lieutenant governor.

Senator King has served two terms of four years each in the state senate, and it is surely an excellent "sign of the times," in a political way, that he is willing to continue his faithful and efficient service of the people.

FAIR DEAL FOR ALL—A goodly number of the forward looking communities of Southern California have made offers, or bids, in the way of suitable tracts of land for the location of the proposed southern branch of the University of California.

Oxnard, in Ventura county, is trying for the prize, and Fullerton, in Orange county, has made a splendid offer of a site.

The object of the communities making such offer is, of course, to become an educational center for the southern portion of the state. There are half a dozen or more of them, and it is officially announced that all will be considered purely upon their merits. Every locality making an offer is to be given a fair and equal show with every other locality, and none is to be given any undue advantage.

Fair enough! But it might as well be understood, albeit no official announcement has been made to that effect, that the successful locality must be able to show from the records the following facts:

It was, at the time in question, or is now, either an integral part of, or immediately adjacent to a certain pueblo which was established in 1781 with the official title of El Pueblo de Nuestra Senora la Reina de Los Angeles. Any locality in all Southern California which can meet these conditions can, and will, have an equal and fair chance with every other to the site of the proposed university.

BIG REDUCTION—Speaking of "big reductions," "bargain sales" and that sort of thing, a Los Angeles lady was plaintiff, the other day, in a "love balm" suit. Finding herself with a stock of "damaged affection," she took it into court, valuing it at $50.00. A jury allowed her a dollar for it.

HOW NOT TO DO IT—Every one interested in the growth and prosperity of the big Chicago firm, Sears, Roebuck & Co., and it would seem that a whole lot of people are—will be interested in knowing that the firm's net income for 1924 is given as $14,354,397, being a gain over the previous year of over two million dollars.

A fine showing for Sears, Roebuck & Co., and good evidence that they are shrewd business men. But it isn't as good a showing for the man who buys, from this mail order house, goods which he might as well, and in many cases even better, buy from his home merchant.

There are several ways in which to build up home industries and home industries, but sending your money to the Chicago mail order house is not one of them.

AN UNFAIR FAIR—Comes the telegraphic news that the state legislature, or at least that portion of it representing the northern and central sections of the state, is vigorously fighting the plan to make a state fair of the annual Riverside county fair.

The proposed plan would give the state two state fairs, one at Sacramento and one at Riverside. The opposition claims that the present state fair at Sacramento would be greatly injured, and perhaps ruined, should the plan go through.

As it is at present, the taxpayers of Southern California have the pleasure and privilege of putting up two-thirds of the money given by the state for the support of the fair held in Sacramento. Not one-half of one per cent of them ever see it, know anything about it, or have anything to do with it, save and except to pay for it, as above stated.

LACKING THE "INSTINCT"—The trouble with Germany, Russia, and even with France, appears to be what dear old Jimmie Jones used to call "no instinct to pay."

"Jimmie," said Paul Knauft, addressing the then well known Restaurantor, "is it true that you garnished so and so's pay?" "Mr. Paul," replied Jimmie, "I am no man what garneshee no man who show any 'instinct to pay.' But any son of a gun owe me, and show no 'instinct to pay,' I garneshee him."

KINSLOW KNEW—"Lawrence Bunker, sent to Jone in 1923 for attacking a young girl and later paroled because of illness, is under arrest at San Francisco on a highway robbery charge, according to word received by police here yesterday."

Los Angeles news item of date March 12.

And that's the way it goes! First convict em, then parole em, then, convict em again, and so on, and so on. It is the original perniciou circle.

John T. Kinslow, a Santa Ana man known to nearly every one, sized it up, mighty well, years ago.

"John," said a friend, "a second judge of the superior court is about to be appointed for Orange county. Why don't you go after that appointment, John?"

But Mr. Kinslow rather surprised his friend by his grave reply: "Well, I think I will. I am positive that I fully understand the duties of the office, and could do the work. When a man was brought before me, who had been convicted of a crime, I would look up the penalty laid down by the law for such crime, inform him of it, and then—parole him."

IN THE LONG AGO
14 Years Ago Today
From the Register Files

MARCH 14, 1911
With impressive ceremonies, the handsome new home on North Sycamore street of the Santa Ana Elks was officially opened last night.

An automobile, stolen several days ago from Keller E. Watson of Orange, was found on Hickey street here.

City sustained considerable damage to its sewer for property as the result of the recent freshet in the Santa Ana river.

The Orange County Poultry association announced plans for an exposition here in December.

Controlling interest in the Farmers and Merchants bank of Fullerton was purchased from F. H. Daley by E. K. H. H. H.

Grammar school students of the city will hold a silver medal contest at the high school tomorrow night. Participants include Ella Davis, Hazel Rees, Ethel Coffman, Isabel Anderson, Margery Shaw, Lottie Morris and Ruth Kohler.
